

'Turning point' near in Mideastern war?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel said Syrian forces were "in full retreat" from the Golan Heights toward Damascus today, but Syria said its troops had repulsed the Israelis and Egypt claimed it totally controlled the east bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli state radio said Israeli troops and armor pursued the retreating Syrians. The broadcast said Syrian soldiers were running away on foot and that Syrian columns began withdrawing toward Damascus, less than 40 miles from the battle lines.

Egypt, meanwhile, said its tanks punched deeper into the Sinai under cover from warplanes knocking out vital Israeli defenses. Israel said its forces were on the offensive and had destroyed all bridges across the Suez Canal, trapping Egyptian troops in the desert without supplies.

In Washington, President Nixon said the United States seeks support in the U.N. Security Council for a position

"we hope and believe will be effective," but gave no indication as to the nature of the Mideast proposal the United States will present to the council.

The Israeli state radio's authoritative commentator, Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, said Israeli tanks were slashing toward the canal with fresh crews and said Israel was near a "dramatic turning point" in the three-day-old war.

But an Egyptian communique broadcast by Cairo radio said the Israeli attempt to destroy cross-canal pontoon assault bridges had failed and Egyptian jets were blasting Israeli airfields in support of advancing Egyptian armor.

A communique from the Syrian military command also reported heavy fighting on the other major front, the Golan Heights near Israel's northeastern border with Syria. The Damascus broadcast claimed Syrian jets backing ground troops in the heights knocked down 32 more Israeli fighters.

That brought the kill count claimed by Syria and Egypt to more than a fourth of Israel's 480-plane air force. The Tel Aviv command has kept silent but declared it had command of the skies on both fronts.

Israel said that it fought a holding action Saturday and Sunday while it brought up its reserves, but this morning its warplanes hit five Syrian air bases and Egyptian targets.

A communique reported heavy losses and damage inflicted on the Syrians. The Israeli command said the Egyptians sent "a large number" of planes on bombing missions deep in the Sinai desert, and five of them were brought down in dogfights or by ground fire.

The Israeli radio said furious air battles raged over both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and claimed they were the first such aerial actions of the new war.

As the new Middle East war went into its third day, Arab guerrillas hit Israeli settlements in North Galilee with Katyusha rockets and mortars, but no casualties were reported. The Israeli radio said most of the attacks came from southern Lebanon.

An effort to get a cease-fire appeal from the U.N. Security Council collapsed Sunday because the Russians, Chinese and other allies of the Arabs insisted that it contain a demand for Israel to give up the territory it seized in the 1967 war. A council meeting requested by the United States was expected this afternoon, but Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Israel would not accept a cease-fire until the Arab forces were driven back to the lines they crossed Saturday.

An Israeli communique Sunday night said the Egyptians have suffered heavy losses in armored duels and from Israeli air strikes. It said that Israel has consolidated its forces on the Egyptian front.

The communique said that air strikes have damaged or destroyed nine of the

Deeply divided U.N. to debate outbreak of war

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A deeply divided United Nations faced the new Middle East conflict on two fronts today. Much debate but no concrete action is expected in both the Security Council and the General Assembly.

President Nixon called Sunday night for a Security Council meeting after two days of intensive U.S. diplomatic consultations. The meeting was expected to start at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

There was no indication what specific action the United States would seek. British efforts for a cease-fire appeal by the council president collapsed under Soviet, Chinese and nonaligned opposition.

The appeal would have been made by the president, Sir Laurence McIntyre of Australia, on behalf of all 15 council members. But the necessary unanimity could not be mustered because Israel's opponents insisted on a demand that Israel withdraw from all Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian territory occupied in the 1967 war.

The Arabs have not been pressing for a meeting of the Security Council, nor has Israel. The five permanent members of the council can veto resolutions they don't like. The last veto cast in the council was by U.S. Ambassador John A. Scall on July 26, killing a resolution that strongly deplored Israel's failure to withdraw from the occupied territory.

Before the afternoon council meeting, the 135-nation assembly was to hear statements on the new war from Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el Zayyat and Syria's deputy foreign minister, Zakaria Ismail. It was probable that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban also would speak.

With its powerful Arab, African, Asian and Communist blocs, the assembly has struck Israel repeatedly with denunciatory motions.

estimating the dollar worth of environmental intangibles.

The result was the assignment of some 400 field interviewers to question 12,068 households from Maryland to eastern Texas and from Arkansas to Florida—roughly ten times the usual sampling of the established nationwide public opinion polls.

The survey searched out residents who customarily indulged in hunting, fishing, bird-watching or other forms of recreation that depend on fish and wildlife.

U. S. mounts Mideast peace push

WASHINGTON (AP) — After exchanging personal messages with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nixon said today the United States will propose action he hopes and believes "will be effective in stopping the fighting" in the Middle East.

After Nixon talked briefly with newsmen in his Oval Office, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler disclosed that Nixon and Brezhnev exchanged private messages Sunday that were channeled through the Soviet embassy here and the American embassy in Moscow. Ziegler said the Washington-Moscow "hotline" was not used.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the United States was seeking broad international support for a move in the United Nations Security Council that they hope could lead to an end to the conflict.

Ziegler, conducting his first press briefing in weeks, said Kissinger has been in close touch with the foreign ministers of Egypt and Israel. Ziegler expressed the view that these contacts "perhaps give us a better opportunity" to promote an end to the fighting than was possible during the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Ziegler said Kissinger has been in close touch with "all parties who have an interest in the area." He said the meetings included an unannounced meeting Saturday night with Huang Chen, head of Communist China's liaison office in Washington.

The press secretary said the U.S. objective is an end to the fighting followed by a search for an over-all Middle East settlement.

Because of the new Arab-Israeli conflict, Ziegler said Nixon is canceling plans to fly to Carthage, Tenn., Saturday to dedicate a dam named for former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Asked if the United States felt the Soviet Union was prepared to urge restraint by its Arab allies as a result of the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges, Ziegler said, "I don't think now is the time to characterize the attitude" of any other nation.

Ziegler said he could not get into details of Nixon's exchange with Brezhnev.

"It's a serious situation... and we are doing everything we can on the diplomatic side," Ziegler said.

When a reporter asked if Nixon's cancellation of the planned trip to Tennessee reflected presidential pessimism over prospects for an early end to the fighting, Ziegler said he would not predict developments in the United Nations or on the battlefronts.

Nixon transmitted a message to Brezhnev Sunday before leaving Key Biscayne, Fla., Ziegler said, and Brezhnev's response was received after the President returned to the White House late Sunday night. Ziegler indicated only two messages — one in each direction — were involved.

Kissinger busy in latest crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger's first crisis as secretary of state, the Middle East war, is a test of his endurance as well as of his capacity to focus on several major diplomatic fronts at the same time.

It also provides evidence of the limited power of the United States and its secretary of state.

In the last few hours before massive fighting erupted, Kissinger, impelled mostly by urgent warnings from the Israelis, tried to head the war off with a flurry of cables and telephone calls to King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat and others.

The effort did not succeed. Now the United States intends to call the U.N. Security Council into session with full awareness that the odds against a way being found there to end the hostilities are high.

Diplomatic sources noted that in an effort to shorten them Israel has left the United States a clear field, offering no diplomatic initiatives of its own.

But Washington probably can count at best on only Britain and Australia in the 15-nation council for any proposal that is not heavily weighted against Israel.

These sources expect the war to be settled in the field, the results depending primarily on whether Egypt can repair links across the Suez Canal to its forces in the Sinai.

The war broke out at a time when Kissinger was concentrating on two other areas— Europe and China. U.S.

He said Nixon had not been in personal contact with any other world leader except Brezhnev.

Earlier in the day, Nixon had told newsmen that he wants to avoid "any grandstand play" in the Middle East situation.

Nixon interrupted a morning meeting in his Oval Office with Kissinger to chat briefly with newsmen about the Middle East situation.

Kissinger, invited to say a few words by Nixon, said he had been in close contact with other members of the Security Council and that "our intention is to move forward with the broadest possible support."

Nixon ordered Kissinger on Sunday to call for a convening of the 15-nation council shortly before the chief executive left Florida to return to the White House.

Demo quota system dies in committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quota system, which helped split the Democratic party last year, has been written out of party rules and seemingly buried forever by the reform commission's drafting committee.

In a unanimous vote Sunday, the committee approved a rule deleting the language that led to mandatory quotas for women, youth and minorities at the 1972 national convention. The new rule, however, still commits the party to overcome past discrimination.

Tentatively approved bit-by-bit over three-day weekend meeting, the new rule was adopted on final passage Sunday in what was acclaimed by both sides as a successful compromise.

Leaders of both factions predicted the compromise version would be approved by the full reform commission later this month and the Democratic National Committee early next year.

The drafting committee also approved a proportional representation replacement for winner-take-all delegate selection procedures and made room for Democratic officials who complained they were shut out of the 1972 convention.

Another change would allow presidential contenders a voice in the selection of delegates pledged to them. Party officials said it would prevent the situation that arose last year in which some candidates, principally George Wallace, won delegates in primaries only to have the delegate seats filled by persons supporting other candidates.

The 1972 quota rule was produced by a commission headed by Sen. George McGovern.

It resulted in unprecedented numbers of women, young people, blacks and members of other minority groups at last year's Miami Beach convention. But it also was a major divisive force in the party.

Protests and defections came particularly from party regulars who had to give up their convention seats to make way for the newcomers.

This year no one spoke in favor of quotas, although reformers insisted on continued efforts to bring in previously under-represented groups.

British jet forced down

BAHRAIN (AP) — Two South Yemen MIGs forced a British Airways Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner carrying 268 passengers and 19 crew members to land in Aden today, but the plane and everyone aboard was allowed to depart nearly three hours later, airport sources reported.

The informants said the plane, bound from London to Nairobi, took off at 2:33 p.m. — 7:33 a.m. EDT. The flight was intercepted at 11:40 a.m. — 4:40 a.m. EDT.

There was no immediate explanation for the Yemeni move.

South Yemen is a former British colony on the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula.

Cairo and Damascus residents mostly calm

CAIRO (AP) — The usual Sunday crowds strolled the streets of Cairo, seemingly unconcerned that Israeli jets along the Suez Canal were only seven minutes away.

But by 9:30 p.m. the Egyptian capital was almost blacked out, and few people were on the streets. There were no air raids, but all the papers carried detailed instructions of what to do in case of one.

Thousands of Syrians fled into air raid shelters in Damascus, the other Arab war capital, following Israeli air strikes on military airfields near the

New baby delivered by grandpa

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — When Vincent DeMartino saw his grandson for the first time, crying and red-faced, he couldn't have been happier.

He also couldn't have been more surprised because grandpa, a New York bartender better known to his patrons as "Vinnie," had just played a makeshift role of obstetrician.

There was almost no warning that the baby was due.

"My daughter felt a labor pain, so my wife went to call the doctor. She was barely on the phone when 'Pow!' here comes the baby," DeMartino said Sunday.

"She told the doctor 'I hear crying, but that can't be!' and I said 'Yes it can. Here he is!' By the time she hung up the phone and came back into the room, she was a grandmother!"

When the doctor finally got to see Kenneth Michael Hamilton, 6 pounds, 9½ ounces, it was apparent grandpa had been an excellent substitute.

Environment study pinpoints worth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-year project to appraise nature in the same currency as a dam or canal has estimated fish and wildlife alone are worth a whopping $24 billion a year to recreation users in southeastern states. Other areas of the country were not studied.

The study, due for release later this month, hands new ammunition to environment groups that feel the environmental costs of land and water development projects outweigh the economic benefits.

Economist Joseph Horvath, leader of the government-sponsored study, told a newsmen the $24 billion estimate for the Southeast was, if anything, on the conservative side.

"You could go to the Supreme Court with this study, it is so thoroughly done," Horvath said in an interview.

That is exactly where it may end up some day, as environment groups continue to file lawsuits to block federal construction projects.

Many projects, such as dams and other major public works, must by law be justified with proof that their benefits are greater than their costs.

But the intangible values of nature have been difficult to estimate in dollars, and therefore have been scarcely counted on the cost side of the cost-benefit equation.

Horvath, chairman of the Environmental Research Group at Georgia State University in Atlanta, said that when he took on the project in 1968 he had to find some way of part on learning who fired a .45 caliber weapon which had been issued to an Ohio National guardsman who wasn't on the scene.

The Akron Beacon Journal said it has learned that one of the pistols fired at Kent was issued to Spec. 5 Frank Haas, who was on duty at the Ravenna Armory at the time of the bloody clash between guardsmen and antiwar demonstrators.

Four students were killed and nine were wounded when the guardsmen opened fire on demonstrators.

The Beacon Journal said Saturday that Haas, a former member of Troop G of the 107th Armored Cavalry, confirmed that FBI agents questioned him about the pistol and told him it had been fired May 4, 1970. Haas said the FBI was satisfied with his explanation that he was not on campus at the time but was on duty with other mechanics at the armory.

FBI investigators have been quoted as saying four .45 caliber cartridges found at the shooting scene came from a weapon which did not belong to any of those men who admitted firing guns.

Wallace eyes 1976 race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's interest in seeking the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination was underscored this weekend by the presence of two top aides as rules for that battle were drafted.

Readily acknowledging their intentions, they made clear that Wallace won't repeat his 1972 mistake of running in presidential preference primaries while making little effort outside the South to win convention delegates.

Mickey Griffin, the governor's 25-year-old executive assistant and a member of both the Democratic National Committee and its executive committee, told an interviewer his watchful eye over the writing of delegate selection rules is related "a great deal" to the governor's 1976 plans.

Weekend traffic toll reaches 22

Ohio recorded 24 traffic deaths the previous weekend.

The worst accident of the weekend was a car-truck collision in suburban Cincinnati Sunday that killed a former Ohio high school football coach of the year and two of his children.

The count was taken from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Firman shot attempting to escape

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gordon "Spunky" Firman, the "barefoot bandit" of 1960, was in good condition Sunday night at a prison hospital here after being shot at least four times while trying to escape from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility. Firman was transferred to the Central Medical Center at Ohio Penitentiary after being shot in both arms, one leg and the chest, prison officials said.

The spokesman said Firman bolted for a double wire fence around the Lucasville prison while on the way back from a visit in another part of the institution.

Verbal orders and several warning shots failed to halt him, the spokesman said. Firman had climbed the first fence and reached the top of the second and last enclosure when he was shot.

The spokesman said Firman tried to climb the fence again after being shot, but was pulled down by a guard.

But the 34-year-old Firman was not the same man who was shot by police in 1960 and scornfully told them, "Give me a pen knife and I'll dig the slug out myself."

4 persons slain

OVANDO, Mont. (AP) — Four persons died Sunday in a bizarre shooting incident on a dude ranch near this western Montana community.

Police launched a search for a former mental patient from Decatur, Ill., who officers said was seen leaving the ranch carrying rifles and shotguns.

Powell County Sheriff David J. Collings said a first-degree murder warrant for a man who had worked at the Whitetail Ranch under the alias of Tex McCord. Collings said the man's true name apparently was Roger Caryl.

Man may gain his freedom after years in jail, asylum

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A 62-year-old Philippine immigrant has a chance for freedom after spending more than half his life in state prisons and mental hospitals with almost no chance to talk with anyone.

Officials said Vincent Dawa, who speaks a Philippine dialect, has been able to hold only extremely limited conversations during his 34 years of confinement since being condemned to death for murder.

He has learned only a few words of English since entering a prison in 1939, six months before the start of World War II, authorities said.

On Wednesday, Dawa is to appear in Marin County Superior Court here for a sanity hearing which could be the first step toward gaining a parole.

Dawa was a 28-year-old farm worker when convicted in 1939 of fatally shooting a Chinese fan-tan dealer in Sacramento. Witnesses said Dawa accused the dealer of cheating him of of Dresden, in a two-car collision on Ohio 60 in Muskingum County.

CHARDON — George K. Baylog, of rural Huntsburg, in a one-car crash on U.S. 6 at the Geauga-Ashtabula County line.

FRIDAY NIGHT
WAPAKONETA — David Schmiesing, 14, of Route 1, Minster, in a three-car accident on a rural road in Auglaize County.

TOLEDO — Peter Wise, 20, of Harbor View, when his motorcycle struck a utility pole in Oregon.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service predicted another mild day for Ohio today, with temperatures climbing into the 70s and 80s.

The unseasonably warm weather is created by a high pressure area near the Atlantic Coast and a low pressure system in the plains. Forecasters said it is expected to continue until mid-week.

Readings tonight will drop into the 60s and upper 50s, the weather service said.

Skies were mostly cloudy Sunday night, with a few showers reported near Lima and Marion. Some rain was likely today in southeastern counties.

Ohioans can expect warm weather Wednesday, followed by cooling Thursday and Friday. There will be a chance of showers late Wednesday and Thursday with fair skies on Friday. Highs Wednesday will be in the 70s with lows in the 50s or low 60s. Thursday and Friday will see highs in the 60s and lows in the 40s.

Light rain still around

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered light rain lingered across the nation from the western states to the Appalachians today.

Rainfall was generally less than a third of an inch before dawn. However, 1 to 2 inches of rain fell Sunday on parts of central California, and Huntsville, Ala., received 1.3 inches.

Showers and a few thundershowers were scattered over Florida and from northern Alabama and Mississippi across the Ohio Valley to New York and the middle Atlantic coastal states.

Skies were fair over New England and across the southern states from the Southern Plateau to the south Atlantic coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Redmond and Baker, Ore., to 80 at Vero Beach, Miami and Key West, Fla.

11 pontoon bridges the Egyptians threw across the canal.

Egypt, however, said that it continued to move men across the bridges. Earlier Sunday it said it had solidified its foothold along the eastern bank of the 103-mile canal.

A broadcast by the Israeli state radio said reserve units were being brought into the fighting against the Egyptians. Foreign newsmen have been prevented from reaching the fighting areas, but Israeli radio broadcasts said Egypt had sent more than 400 tanks across the canal during the first 24 hours of fighting.

Israel said it drove the Syrians back all along the Golan Heights except at Khushniye, which is about three miles inside the old cease-fire line. A communique said heavy losses were inflicted on the Syrian forces and Israel's defense lines had been stabilized.

The Syrians claimed, however, that their forces had repelled the Israeli counterattack, inflicting huge losses, and were continuing to advance into the Heights.

"A large number of Israeli pilots and soldiers were captured," Damascus Radio said. The broadcast told the Syrians to assist downed Israeli pilots, spare their lives, and turn them over to the authorities.

Buford Tomey, Dawa's court-appointed attorney, said medical records either weren't kept or have disappeared for the first 20 years of his client's hospitalization.

Since 1960, records describe Dawa as "quiet, docile and a good worker." He was transferred to the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo last year and, with the help of a counselor there, began his attempt to gain freedom.

A Sacramento judge changed Dawa's sentence to life imprisonment in March of this year, making parole a possibility. But the state parole board cannot act on a prisoner ruled insane.

REJECTS FREEDOM — Vladimir Bukovsky, a 31-year-old Soviet writer, has rejected an official offer of freedom after years of prison, labor camps and forced mental treatment. Bukovsky, now very ill and weak, refused to sign a pledge that he would never again distribute or write anti-Soviet criticism in order to gain his freedom, according to friends.

3 shootings at Cleveland gang work?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland homicide detectives have joined the investigation of the slayings of two men and the wounding of a third southeast of Cleveland.

Ex-convict Robert Boggess, 33, of Mayfield Heights and William Whitcomb, 33, address unknown were found shot to death about a mile apart Saturday—Whitcomb in Twinsburg Township and Boggess in Oakwood.

Wounded was 38-year-old Salvatore Carcione of Northfield, who told police he was shot while telephoning from a public booth in Oakwood.

Carcione was reported in serious condition under police guard in Bedford Community Hospital.

Police said several possible reasons for the shootings were being investigated, including a possible link with Cleveland's Model Cities program.

A notebook found in Carcione's pocket reportedly contained a reference to the Aug. 6 shooting and wounding of Model Cities director Robert Doggett outside his offices.

Police said Carcione has a record dating back to 1957. He and Boggess were convicted in 1968 of beating a Middleburg Heights coin dealer and robbing him of a $30,000 collection.

Police said little was known about Whitcomb. Identification was delayed several hours because no papers or other identifying materials were found on the body.

Oakwood acting Police Chief Donald Barney said Boggess and Carcione were "not small time hoods. They were big operators."

Police sources said one theory was that a fallout over splitting criminal loot might have been involved in the shootings.

Carcione was paroled from prison last May after serving about five years. Boggess was paroled after only six months in prison.

Stock list recovering

NEW YORK (AP) — After being sharply lower near opening today, stock market prices began recovering. But they remained on the downside in what analysts said was a correction spurred by the unexpected outbreak of war in the Mideast.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been down more than 10 points near opening, was down 2.10 at 969.15. Declining Big Board issues had a 3-to-1 lead over advancers in strong volume. The Dow blue-chip indicator ended last week at its highest closing level since mid-March.

International oils were down in heavy volume after several issues were delayed in opening because of order imbalances.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down 1.14 at 106.61. Volume leader on the Amex was Buttes Gas, down 1 1/4 at 29 3/4.

Heck's, Inc., up 1/4 at 15 1/2, was the Big Board volume leader.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .13 at 59.21.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Fumes from the running engine of a car killed two members of a Canton family today and hospitalized two others, Louis Napier, chief Stark County sheriff's deputy, reported.

Napier said the body of Gerald Welsh, 42, was found slumped over the steering wheel of his car in the family garage. Also dead was a son, Joseph.

Hospitalized were Welsh's wife, Marilyn, 46, and another son, Michael, 14, Napier said.

The officer said the fumes apparently leaked from the garage through the house.

Eye reasons for Boston murders

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Why did it happen in Boston?

Two people were killed here last week. A young woman was burned to death. A retired man was robbed and stabbed to death. Police say he had been pelted with rocks. Both victims were whites killed by groups of young blacks.

"Isolated insanity," said Mayor Kevin White. "Boston is still the most walkable, livable city on a comparative basis with any city in the country."

Boston has a liberal reputation stretching from the 1830s, when it was the home of the antislavery abolitionist movement.

So why did it happen here?

Some of the answer might be found along a three-mile stretch of Columbia Road in the city's Dorchester section. It begins at Franklin Park, on the border of black Roxbury, and ends at a traffic circle near the racially troubled Columbia Point housing project and white, Irish South Boston.

'Green Book' arbiter of society

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Actually, she's shy. Parties don't interest her much. And people of position? No, she's not easily impressed.

But Carolyn Hagner Shaw can tell you exactly who rates in capital society—and who doesn't.

For 30 years now, she's kept voluminous files on the fortunes and faux pas of the powerful, honoring the select with an inch or so of space in her annual Social List, a kelly green suede-covered volume appropriately called the Green Book.

And for $22, you, too, can see who counts.

John W. Dean III, who used to counsel the President, led a contingent of former administration biggies who were scratched from the list this year

It was about 800 yards from where Columbia Road runs into Franklin Park that Evelyn Wagler, 24, died Tuesday night. Carrying gasoline to her stalled car, she was stopped by six young blacks, forced to douse herself with the gasoline and was set afire.

And it was only 600 yards from the traffic circle at the other end that Ludovico Louis Barba, 65, went fishing Thursday. Police first reported he had been stoned to death by 40 to 50 young blacks. The medical examiner reported Friday he died of stab wounds.

In between, Columbia Road runs through Dorchester, its sides flanked by "three decker" wooden houses, red brick public buildings and small stores and shops. In the middle is Uphams Corner, a commercial and shopping area.

There are sheets of plywood in the windows of the stores where Columbia Road begins at Franklin Park. A decade or two ago, it was an area where Boston's Irish Catholics coexisted with Boston's Jewish community. Now almost all the faces on the street are black. Boston was nine per cent black in 1960, 16 per cent black by 1970.

Long confined to the dilapidated South End, the black community spread through Roxbury and into the tightly knit Dorchester neighborhoods that Boston's Irish and other white ethnic groups long had called home.

There is a scattering of abandoned houses along the Franklin Park end of Columbia Road, but not the desolation of some inner city areas. If there is glass in the streets or rubbish on the sidewalks, blacks will tell you it's because their neighborhood gets the short end of city services.

Along Columbia Road cruise the blue-and-white cars of the Boston police department. There is almost certainly a white man inside. The department is 98 per cent white and the source of much bitterness among blacks who say they are denied the protection they need to live without fear of crime and violence.

when they became embroiled in the Watergate scandal.

The reason? "Unpleasant notoriety," one criterion for being dropped. Death, divorce, separation and remarriage can be others.

Former presidential counselors H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman are out. So are former White House aides Charles W. Colson, Jeb Magruder, Hugh Sloan and Egil Krogh. Former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst didn't make it either.

Tricia Nixon Cox moved to New York, so she's out. But Julie and David Eisenhower's move to suburban Bethesda, Md., caused only a Green Book address change.

Mieke Tunney is separated from her husband, Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., so she's out. But he's in because he's a senator.

Mrs. Shaw says she's not the one to black-list individuals. All final decisions on additions and deletions are left to her "board," but she won't reveal who is on the board.

During an interview in her red brick Georgetown house, Mrs. Shaw, 69, said that in past years, she was threatened with lawsuits by some who weren't included on her list. The crime? "Ruining their social standing." Others tried to bribe her by sending cases of liquor, long stemmed red roses and beautiful, expensive books.

But all were returned, Mrs. Shaw said, "even the flowers," each item accompanied by a form letter that explained "it is not the policy of the Green Book to accept gifts."

Mrs. Shaw said that there are more prominent women listed this year than last. But women present a particular problem: how to list them.

For instance, the Nixons are listed: NIXON, the President of the United States and Mrs. Richard Milhous. (Patricia Ryan.)

But presidential counselor Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is known around the capital by her first name. So she's listed: ARMSTRONG, Counsellor to the President, Anne L. Her husband, Tobin, has his name in tiny black print underneath.

Mrs. Shaw said her new list includes a few Chinese and "a sprinkling of blacks."

Foreign students may fill extra space in U.S. colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — American colleges and universities, which undertook a construction binge in the 1960s to accommodate an expected surge of students, are finding they have thousands of empty classroom seats.

Many would like to fill the vacancies with foreign students.

Under a pilot program Georgetown University hopes to begin next year, approximately 500 German students will be placed in 25 American schools in five areas.

Thousands more could eventually be on their way, according to Georgetown's executive vice president for educational affairs, the Rev. Edmund G. Ryan, S.J.

Father Ryan says thousands of German students are being turned away from overcrowded German universities.

"The United States in the 1960s went off on a lost weekend of building," Father Ryan said. "In the 1970s we're suffering from a massive hangover."

Young Germans and others could be the antidote for the financial suffering of under-enrolled American schools, he says.

"The Germans are talking about 30,000 to 50,000 students," he said. While this would be "entirely too large" for the near future, he thinks it is reasonable as a long-range figure.

The students in the pilot program will be clustered in five areas—Washington, D.C., Michigan, Missouri, Texas and Washington state.

Father Ryan said the percentage of college-age students attending schools past high school has leveled off at about 50 per cent.

Report black colleges in financial trouble

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Christopher F. Edley, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, says black colleges still provide a major part of the black leadership training because white schools "don't know how to teach ghetto students."

But Edley said the black colleges are in financial trouble and "our backs are against the wall."

TOPS IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING — Ralph B. Hoffman (left) receives a certificate of registration as a professional engineer from Richard Nolan, president of the Franklin County Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at Ceremonies in Battelle Institute, Columbus. Hoffman received the top score in the electrical engineering branch of the state exam.

New professional engineer

Ralph B. Hoffman, a Washington High School graduate, has received a certificate of registration as a professional engineer from the Franklin County chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at a ceremony in Battelle Memorial Institute. The presentation was made by Richard Nolan, president of the Franklin County chapter, of which Hoffman is a member.

Hoffman, who received the highest score of all applicants in the electrical engineering branch of the state engineering examination, was graduated summa cum laude from Ohio State University in 1960 with a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. After receiving his master's degree, he entered the Air Force as an electronics officer and subsequently was assigned to the USAF Space Systems Division in Los Angeles.

Calif. There he received the Commendation Medal for his contributions to one of the Air Force's earliest space satellite programs.

Following military service, he joined the OSU faculty where he taught electrical engineering for seven years. In 1971, he became a member of the technical staff of the Missile Systems Division of Rockwell International, Corp., of Columbus. He presently designs flight control systems for electro-optically guided tactical missiles.

He and his wife, Laura, and their two daughters, Tracy and Nancy, live at 41 Kennebec Pl., Westerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Hoffman, 609 High St., and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beard, 842 Lincoln Dr.

Forbidden poetic fruit

The strange convolutions of the censoring mind are wondrous to behold. Fresh evidence of this has emerged in Columbus, Ohio, where junior high school students found four pages excised from a book of poems they had purchased through the school. It seems that two English teachers, with the concurrence of the principal, removed certain

A piece of the action

Several years ago a friend invited me to lunch and set forth an interesting proposition. He was putting together a syndicate to build a fancy condominium on an "unspoiled island" in the Bahamas. Did I want a piece of the action?

The thought of escaping from Massachusetts to an unspoiled island in mid-winter has enormous intrinsic appeal, so I expressed interest. "How much?"

"100k," he said in the language of the trade.

"Thousand."

"Are you out of your mind? You know me. I couldn't lay my hands on $100,000 if my life depended upon it."

"Oh," he said, "You're wrong! With your credit references and existing assets, you could probably get it for 8 per cent a year. You could deduct the 8k (more shorthand) interest from your taxes. Rent the place out when you weren't using it and claim depreciation. And since property values there are going up, you would probably be able to sell it at a sweet profit in a few years."

I was dazed and told him I would think about it. I did let him pay for the lunch, which came to about 5 milli-k's.

WHAT DAZED ME was not the prospect of making a killing, but rather the inherently irrational basis of the

The games we can't afford

The game of "Get the President" is an old one. But before the Nineteen Sixties, when so many ancient and honorable values collapsed, the game was played more or less openly.

When Teddy Roosevelt and the Progressives of 1912 found themselves dissatisfied with President William Howard Taft, they fought him in the primaries and, eventually, formed a third party of their own. As it turned out, Taft lost to Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, but it was not by conniving, obscene demonstrating or the "leaking" of unsubstantiated charges.

In 1948, various factions wanted to get rid of Harry Truman, but the fight was honorable, with his principal adversaries, Henry Wallace and Strom Thurmond, running unsuccessfully on their own tickets.

The dumping of Vice Presidents has poems because they balked at dealing with them in class.

One naturally wants to know what racy stuff was thus pruned from the books. That is the cream of the jest: the four offending poems are part of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology," which has gained classic stature since its publication in 1915.

Partly this must be a residue of my commitment to social democracy, but the other day it suddenly occurred to me that my reaction was rooted in an even earlier set of experiences. I was buying a car and in the course of preparing the title papers the dealer inquired, "Who holds the lien?" "The what?" "You know, who's financing it? Your bank?"

I said that I was financing it and as soon as he gave me the bill, I would give him a check. He paled; indeed, I was afraid for a moment that he had been hit by a coronary.

The truth of the matter was that, as best I could discover, this was the first time in memory that a car had simply been purchased for cash. I even felt a bit guilty about it and reassured him that I was not engaging in discrimination, that the only thing we ever bought on time was our home. Otherwise cash on the counter or—to be precise — 30 day charge accounts.

Driving home I began wondering why I am such a credit freak. Of course, I am a Depression Kid, but then so was President Nixon, whose financial maneuvers in purchasing San also had a history. Franklin Roosevelt managed to rid himself of Henry Wallace in 1944, but the split between the two men had become obvious.

When Harold Stassen undertook to eliminate Vice President Nixon in 1856, there were hints that President Eisenhower was not averse to a change. But if Eisenhower had ever wanted it that way, he was quick to forget it once Nixon had demonstrated his popularity in New Hampshire.

THE EUGENE McCARTHY crusade to supplant Lyndon Johnson in 1969 was quite in accordance with Teddy Roosevelt's 1912 effort to replace Taft. But when it became apparent that LBJ would still dominate the 1968 Democratic National Convention, Johnson's designated successor, Hubert Humphrey, found himself victimized by the carryings-on in the Chicago streets.

It was not that the Yuppies and the hippies preferred Richard Nixon. The moment that Humphrey was defeated the mob - sophisticates from the urban East joining hands with the sometimes dope-damaged young who were trying to make a sinisster religion out of politics - turned its attention to "etting" politics - turned its attention to "getting" Nixon.

with his imaginative foreign policy, culminating in the trips to Peking and Moscow, the older dissidents, reinforced by the campus radicals, might have toppled Nixon in 1972.

Ever since the November, 1872 verdict was in, the "Get the President" movement has bubbled and seethed with special intensity. Watergate has been a most valuable battering ram in the hands of the "Get Nixon" crowd. But if Nixon could be "got," there remained the hurdle of Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Should Nixon resign, Agnew would not only become President but President-designate in 1976. This being no improvement from their point of view, the "getters" had to "Get Agnew" too. Clark Clifford set the pitch their students from poems which have been on public library shelves for half a century or more.

Snipping them from the school books will have one effect: it will precipitate a rush to the library to taste the forbidden fruit.

Clemente (involving what my speculative friend would doubtless have called "mega-bucks") seem to the uninitiated to have required him to lay out more in interest payments than he earned. Apparently Depression Kids come in different categories.

THEN — just like that — I remembered a childhood scene. Literally: it was like watching a slide projected on a screen.

It must have been 1930 or 31 when they came to our apartment at 780 St. Marks Ave. in Brooklyn. I was about 7, my brother 4, and we witnessed the seizure of our Majestic radio. They had some documents, my mother started to cry, and off they went.

I thought they were thieves, but mother explained that they had taken the radio to fix it. That night, when Dad got home, I overheard the truth — we couldn't afford to keep up the payments. In 1973 I relieved the feeling of humiliation.

The consequence was that never since I set up for myself have I bought anything but a house on time payments. And every month when the bank sends the mortgage bill, I am cheered to note that another few cubic feet belong to us.

This opens up an intriguing ideological question: Does this attitude make me a conservative, a socialist, or just a patent-office eccentric?

in his New York Times Op. Ed. column suggesting a double resignation.

This column has no way of knowing who is telling the truth about the alleged kickbacks in Maryland politics when Agnew held local state office. But I can't believe that if Agnew is guilty he could be putting on such a sustained show of innocence.

People who work in his office still believe in him, and they express a rather bitter animus against White House "liberals" for spreading the rumors that the Vice President would resign if he could get a good deal from the Department of Justice. They name the accused "liberals" on an off-the-record basis.

Some Nixon appointees, if not the President himself, have been playing the "Get the Vice President" game in the best-or worst-of the new manner.

WHEN SPEAKER CARL ALBERT of the House of Representatives refused to grant Agnew the right to a House investigation, he made it plain that the Democrats were willing to abet the "Get Agnew" forces. Since the Democrats now have a big opportunity to win it all in 1976, Albert's stand is understandable if mean.

What is not understandable is the tepid defense which Agnew gets in the White House. Nixon knows what it is to "hang there slowly twisting in the wind"; he had to overcome Eisenhower's reluctance to support him in 1952 and he had to beat bach Harold Stassen's attempted putsch in 1956.

If Nixon lets Agnew be cut down before any incontestable verdict of guilt has been established, the conservatives will never forgive him. Naming John Connally to the Vice Presidency will in such an event be construed as a most shabby maneuver. I can't think of anything that would lend a swifter impetus to the Reagan and Rockefeller campaigns for the 1976 nomination.

The "Get the President" and "Get the Vice President" games should have gone out with the Sixties. We have a presidential, not a cabinet, system, and it is not going to be changed. Until such time as they have been proved guilty, both Nixon and Agnew should be allowed to function. The country can't be run on any other basis.

Curiously, Rep. Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut, who seemed by his behavior as a Watergate committee member to have joined the "Get the President" clique, has regained his old reputation for fairness by saying of Agnew that "he's innocent and that's that."

At least Weicker is not playing the game of "Get the Vice President." He knows that someone must be left in office to run the U.S.

No inflation felt yet on New Jersey turnpike

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — When the New Jersey Turnpike was opened to the public on Jan. 15, 1952, the driver of a passenger car traveling the full turnpike length of 118 miles from Deepwater to Ridgefield Park paid a toll of $1.75.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Artificial breast?

See your surgeon

DEAR ABBY: I am a 45-year-old married woman who fortunately survived breast cancer three years ago. My right breast was removed, and although I wear a padded bra and look normal in clothes, I haven't totally adjusted to my loss, even though my husband has been very kind and understanding.

I suppose I will sound vain and silly (that's why I haven't spoken to my doctor about this) but I would like to know if it is possible for a plastic surgeon to reconstruct an artificial breast and successfully make it part of me?

MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: I have discussed your problem with my plastic surgery adviser, Dr. Eugene Worton who advises me that every case must be evaluated individually. Whether it would depend upon the type of surgery you had (the size and location of the removed tumor.) He suggests you contact a qualified plastic and reconstructive surgeon, and discuss it with him.

DEAR ABBY: How does a woman let her friends know she is available? I am being divorced, and a woman my age can't afford to waste much time, so I'd like to have it known that I am in the market for a new husband.

What do you think of having some cards printed saying: "I AM AVAILABLE!" and without going into detail I could add: "My divorce was final March 10th" and then something cute, like: "The line forms on the left." Then my new phone number.

I suppose this would seem rather forward a few years ago, but Abby, times have changed. What do you think?

DEAR AVAILABLE: Times may have changed, but men haven't. When they play for keeps they avoid aggressive women. I recommend a more subtle way to get the word of your availability around.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAN'T BELIEVE IT IN TEXAS: I couldn't believe it either, so I wrote to the State Bar of Texas and inquired. The reply: "Dear Abby: You wrote that a woman had written to you saying that an unmarried woman cannot own property in Texas and wanted to know if this is true.

In the words of my patient and long-suffering secretary:

"An unmarried woman CAN own property in Texas and the more, the better!"

Cordially Yours,

Western College merger fought

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Some 350 students at Western College hope to save their school by raising $5 million in a massive play for publicity—including purchasing New York State Lottery tickets.

The campaign formed Thursday when the students held a mass meeting and asked President William Spencer why their 121-year old private school is about to be merged with Miami University, a state school.

As the first step, said Susan McBridge, a senior from Pittsburgh, the students raised $375 to buy the lottery tickets. An unidentified faculty member agreed to buy the tickets in New York City today while he was there for a business meeting.

10 persons injured in accidents

A go-cart collision, a runaway car, a motorcycle accident and alcohol resulted in minor injuries to 10 persons over the weekend.

Neither driver was cited when two go-carts met head-on Sunday evening in Mount Sterling. Sherri Emrick, 9, of Mount Sterling, suffered a broken leg in the mishap while Mark and Todd Rannebarger, ages 9 and 4 respectively, also of Mount Sterling, received only bruises.

A car owned by Darwin H. Allen, Jeffersonville, had been parked on a sloping farm lane Saturday morning when it rolled backward into the path of a car driven on Ohio 734 by Charles B.

LSD, larceny cases checked

Police received a report on the use of LSD and three reports of theft over the weekend, while the Sheriff's Department was advised of three thefts.

Dr. William D. Erbeck, 2208 Hamilton Rd. was robbed of his money, Saturday afternoon, after winning a large sum at Lebanon Raceway.

The robber, after taking Dr. Erbeck's money, forced him to drive him to Fayette County before releasing him. The robbery took place in Warren County.

A 17-year-old Washington C.H. boy was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital Saturday night by his father when the youth began acting irrationally and became incoherent. The boy said that he had been given some LSD at a neighborhood bar by another local youth.

He was held at the hospital for observation and later released. The Police Department is investigating the matter.

A Court Street resident reported that a welfare check had been taken from her mailbox.

Darlene Copas, 546 Waverly Dr., advised that a ring had been taken from a dresser drawer at her residence sometime during the past week.

Trash-burning Collector show turnout heavy ends in hassle

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to a call Saturday evening, only to find that it was a case of illegal trash burning.

Firemen found a 55-gallon drum of trash and a discarded sofa burning at a home on Flint Drive.

The firemen informed the residents that open burning is illegal and asked that they extinguish the blaze.

When the resident of the house refused to put the fire out, the Police Department was summoned. The householder still refused, and the Fire Department doused the trash amid the jeers and heckling of onlookers.

The entire on-duty force of firemen and two trucks were tied up at the scene for more than half an hour in all. No charges have been filed.

Shield law given push in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's lawyers try to force newsmen to reveal sources for stories about Agnew's legal problems, interest has been rekindled in legislation that could block such action.

Congress was invited by the Supreme Court to provide legal protection for newsmen after the court held in a 5-4 decision in June 1972 that newsmen had no constitutional right to refuse to disclose sources.

Since then bills to protect sources have been lying idle in both House and Senate committees.

However, action to revive them is expected following orders to eight newsmen to bring their notes and any other records that would disclose their sources to the federal courthouse in Baltimore Thursday. The newsmen are expected to resist the order. The newsmen all wrote about the grand jury investigation of Agnew.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., prompted by the prospect of a major legal battle, called Saturday for prompt legislative action.

To the surprise of no one, the Fairground was packed with exhibitors, flea marketeers and onlookers Saturday and Sunday for the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association monthly show.

But to the surprise of nearly everyone, the competition for powder horns brought out nine unusually fine old relics of American colonial and pioneer days. Kenneth Craig, association president, said he had expected a "pretty good show," but nothing like the one the competition brought out.

The most outstanding powder horn, he said, was "certainly worthy of a place in the Smithsonian Institution;" its history could be traced, he said, with the carvings on it. These included important dates and battles in which it had been used and a little verse: "Friends, receive and take a sup, you'll find it very handy, it's sure to keep your spirits up when filled with rum or brandy." The verse was evidence of its double use.

Constitution, long known as "Old Ironsides," the Java was so badly battered that it was abandoned by the British.

Before sinking the Java, the American sailors plundered it. One of the sailors got the ornately carved powder horn and kept it. How the powder horn finally got to its present owner was not explained.

Craig said there were more than 800 exhibitors at the show including hobbyists and flea marketeers and that more than 2,700 cars carrying the curious and flea market buyers paid the customary 25-cents fee at the gates. If each car had an average of four passengers well over 10,000 men, women and children swarmed over the Fairground. Rain and threat of rain probably cut the crowd somewhat, Craig said.

Disease-raked fabrics plant faces new worker walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Health Director Dr. John Cashman says he expects to have recommendations this week on action to be taken at the disease-plagued Columbus Coated Fabrics plant.

Cashman said Sunday he was reviewing the situation and planned to make a statement.

"I expect I will have some recommendations," he said. But he would not elaborate.

Meanwhile, a union official said employees have been urged not to report to work until company officials take steps to insure safety.

Probe fatal auto crash

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol is continuing its investigation of a fatal car smashup which occurred while a 17-year-old driver was fleeing police.

Lewis R. Diplacido of Conneaut was killed and four teenage passengers were injured when the car slammed into a tree just west of Conneaut Saturday night. The four were hospitalized for observation.

The patrol said pills found in the car by patrolmen were being tested to see if drugs were involved.

The patrol report quoted police as saying they chased the car for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone. One-tenth mile outside the city, the report said, the car went out of control, hit a tree and overturned.

The patrol routinely investigates such accidents when a police vehicle is involved, a patrol official said.

Financial statements under fire

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The accounting profession has just released a report that in effect urges its members to produce financial statements that emphasize accuracy, reality, clarity, simplicity—that communicate rather than confuse.

The figure that counts most in a corporate financial statement, a nine-man study group indicated, is "cash in hand," real cash that is, in contrast to those profits that sometimes are produced on paper but cannot be demonstrated physically.

The thrust of this accounting report appears to be that financial statements should inform individual investors and other unsophisticated readers rather than just offer argot to the professionals.

That these goals, among many set down, should have to be spelled out seems extraordinary, and it is. But that's because many financial reports are extraordinary too.

Most extraordinary, in the view of those who have had to study these statements, is that they sometimes fail to communicate, which is the primary purpose of all words and numbers, even in a financial statement.

This might have been more calmly tolerated in the past, when the relatively few Americans with money to invest seemed satisfied to remain in a state of ignorance, relying on the wisdom of their broker or trust company.

But now this nation has many millions of shareholders. And while most of them still won't attempt to read a financial statement or an annual report, they aren't as willing to tolerate the condition. They want information.

In the absence of that information the stock market has suffered. Many individual investors were scarred by their own and their brokers' ignorance during the late 1960s, and they won't let it happen again.

The common reaction of such people has been to withdraw from the market and let the professionals play with each other's money. And so, after rising for two decades to more than 30 million, the shareholder population declined this year.

Unsophisticated investors won't buy if they read a report and conclude that, while all the figures seem to be in order, the overall picture is incorrect.

Has this been the case? Have they been deluded? You judge.

—The nation's largest railroad, the Penn Central, was just days away from collapse before some of its own directors and executives became fully aware of this alarming situation.

—Mutual fund managers bought stacks of letter stock, shares which could not readily be traded except to sophisticated investors, and then assigned to them a market price when no market existed.

—Land sales companies reported healthy profits because they included the full selling price in their statements even though they received only a small down payment, with no proof positive that the rest would be forthcoming.

McArthur meeting scheduled over walkout by teachers

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The Parents Committee of the Vinton County School District has called a meeting Tuesday to discuss ways to combat the current school crisis.

Committee spokesman Keith Waters said the group has held several community-level sessions, but decided to try a meeting of parents from throughout the district after School Supt. Kenneth Christopher changed his mind about closing school.

"We've invited both teachers and the school board in hopes of ending the strike," Waters said.

Meanwhile, teachers in the LaBrea school district in Trumbull County called a strike Sunday night after negotiations with the school board broke down.

The teachers have been working without a contract since school began last month.

Teachers president Patrick Gaia said pickets would begin marching today if no agreement is worked out.

Gaia said there has been little progress in contract talks since last February. The major issues are salaries and sick leave, he said.

School Supt. Harold Everling said he would try to keep the schools open despite the picketing.

The district's non-certified workers voted Saturday to observe the teachers' picket line, even though the non-professional staff has a contract with the school board.

Eighty-seven Vinton County teachers walked off the job last month after negotiations broke down over dismissal policy and grievance procedures.

State politicians flock to hustings

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Watergate and other highly publicized political scrapes apparently are doing little to discourage Ohio's politicians. At least evidence is scarce.

With the exception of U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who talks about retirement, the field looms large for the more than 500 state, congressional, and local district offices up for grabs in 1974.

Some candidates are off and running early, despite the distant Feb. 6 filing deadline for most races. All but candidates for the state Board of Education must file by 4 p.m. that day. Board candidates need not file until Aug. 7.

Besides Saxbe's Senate seat, all of the state's 23 congressmen will be up for re-election. There also are contests for governor, lieutenant governor, chief justice, two associate Supreme Court justices, attorney general, auditor, secretary of state, and treasurer.

Seven members will be elected to full, six-year terms on the 23-member school board—in the 2nd, 3rd, 6th, 8th, 18th, 20th, and 23rd congressional districts. The incumbents drew short terms by lot two years ago when the board reorganized and switched to six-year, staggered terms.

All 99 seats in the Ohio House are at stake, along with 17 in the 33-member Senate. Those representing odd-numbered Senate districts are to be filled for four-year terms. Half the Senate runs every two years.

Otherwise, one judge will be elected in each of the state's appellate court districts, and some counties have contests for seats on common pleas and county court benches.

Each of the 88 counties will elect a commissioner under a system that has one seek a four-year term in one even-numbered year and the other two the next. County auditors also are to be elected, along with state central committee members of each party in each county.

A couple of formal announcements for state-wide office have been made. One came from former GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes after he had cleared up his legal eligibility to run again.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and the other Democratic incumbents will run again, with the possible exception of Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson who is 81.

Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is expected to seek re-election to the office he has held for more than 20 years.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason, a CBS-TV star for the last 15 years, is coming out of untanned semi-seclusion Thursday to star in his first comedy-variety show for the network since February 1970.

Why the 3½-year layoff? "I just didn't feel like going to work," the Great One explained. He spoke from Miami Beach on a phone connection that sounded as if it were relayed via Katmandu.

Thursday's show may be his final comedy effort for CBS. Gleason, who moved to Florida nine years ago, recently moved his allegiance to NBC-TV, which said he had signed a "long-term" contract with it.

The 57-year-old comedian was a bit more specific about the pact. He said it runs for two years, with options for more.

He also said his CBS contract doesn't expire until September next year. It commits him to doing one more CBS show, probably a dramatic effort, if his sponsor General Electric asks for it.

But whatever happens, Gleason said, he'll start work on his first NBC show in January. What prompted him to sign with NBC, besides money?

"Well, I think that was it," he laughed. "More money. I thought it best to go with NBC. They got a better setup."

Although finances remain secret, the setup allows Gleason to stay in Florida and do all his shows there. His Florida life is indeed sweet — in fact, he had just finished a morning's golfing before the interview.

Surprisingly, the man whose wild, funny TV characters became classics for two generations of viewers says his NBC deal is only for dramatic shows and not comedy-variety specials.

"They're too tough to do," he says of the latter, even though his Thursday night CBS special will be a comedy-variety effort that borrows from the best of his past successes.

Reginald Van Gleason will do his thing, Sammy Spear will conduct the orchestra and the June Taylor Dancers will be out there kicking again. And Art Carney will rejoin Gleason for an updated "Honeymooners" skit.

What does Gleason have in mind for his future NBC projects? "I'll do two or three movie-length stories the first year," he said. "And from one of those we might get a spinoff where I'll do eight to 12 shows a year."

He referred to doing a once-a-month series, although he emphasized that "I don't want to be a lawyer, a doctor or a detective. Everybody's a cop, a doctor or a lawyer these days."

If the first year produces no series, he said, "I'll do three more (shows) the following year and look from those for a spinoff."

Transmittal of animal cell viruses seen in cancer probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Animal cells commonly used in laboratory research can spontaneously produce viruses similar to those that cause cancer, scientists at the National Cancer Institute said today.

They said these viruses possibly could be transmissible to humans, perhaps constituting a "significant biohazard" to laboratory workers handling cell cultures.

The discovery tends to support the theory that all mammalian cells contain their own viruses, that viruses or the ability to produce them are part of the genetic inheritance. The question to be answered is how these viruses are turned on and off.

The report of the spontaneous production of viruses appears in today's issue of Science, a journal published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Four cancer institute scientists said in the report that their research indicated that "many commonly used mammalian cell cultures from various species" produced viruses similar to those known to cause leukemia and sarcoma.

Leukemia is a cancer of the blood, and sarcoma is an often highly malignant tumor of soft tissue.

"An important consideration, then, is the safety of laboratory workers who commonly handle mammalian cell lines without specific precautions for the handling, storage and disposal of potentially pathogenic viruses," the scientists said.

The discovery also raises the question of how the spontaneous production of viruses might affect the validity and results of experiments.

Mets even series with 5-0 victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rolled to 17 more regular-season victories than the New York Mets, but their National League playoff season was tied at one win apiece as it wound up to Shea Stadium here today.

The Mets, who underwhelmed the East Division with an 82-79 record, squared the best-of-five series Sunday at Cincinnati with a 5-0 triumph. The remaining games will be played here.

Best ball tournament attracts 61 golfers

The quartet of Robert Herron, John Arbogast, Ralph Cook and David Boswell won the four-man team best ball with handicap tournament Sunday at the Washington Country Club.

The winning team fired a 21-under-par score of 123 to top the 61 golfers entered.

Herron was the big gun as he had his best-ever score of 35-38-73 in the 18-hole tourney. Herron carries a nine-stroke handicap. Arbogast shot a 92, Cook had a 95 and Boswell finished with an 89.

Club pro Tony Capuana said hidden teams were selected after the golfers had started the best ball event. Herron led his hidden team to a victory with a best ball score of 120. Others on the team were Osborne, S.E. Vaughn and Howard Burnett.

Syndicates were had by the teams of Herron (two), James Vess, Birch Rice, William Mount and Tom Brude.

THE RESULTS Robert Herron, Ralph Cook, John Arbogast and David Boswell, 123.

Roger Grimm, Roger Osborne, S.E. Vaughn and Ray French 124.

Ed Vollette, Carl Elberfeld, Gordon McCarty and Sam Parrett 125.

MT's ground attack clouts Indians 36-0

The Miami Trace reserve football team put together a crunching offensive attack and a stubborn defensive effort to blank the Hillsboro reserves Saturday at Miami Trace Field 36-0. Hillsboro started off the game with the ball, but failed to pick up a first down and turned the ball over to Miami Trace on the 40-yard line.

Miami Trace promptly marched 60 yards for score with quarterback Bruce Ervin stepping over the goal line from two yards out. Ervin then passed to Tony Carter for the extras and Miami Trace led 8-0.

Hillsboro regained possession, but

Schlichter earns berth in district PP&K competition

Art Schlichter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schlichter, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, won the 13-year-old division of the Punt, Pass and Kick zone contest at Gardner Park Stadium Saturday.

The 13-year-old Schlichter will advance to district PP&K competition at Cincinnati-Princeton High School this Saturday.

Schlichter had a 305 score in the zone contest here. Thirteen area cities were represented and a total of 78 boys competed, according to David Ogan, of Carroll Halliday's Ford Dealership.

At the district level, Schlichter will be competing against 13-year-olds from parts of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana.

Buckeyes shred Cougars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On a weekend when numerous running backs galloped like Secretariat across the gridiron, the biggest run of all was stopped short...after starting out as a pass.

In a battle of unbeaten college football teams, Tennessee was shredded for 394 yards through the air by David Jaynes of Kansas, but forced the Jayhawk quarterback to keep the ball himself when he tried to find a receiver for a two-point conversion pass with 3:15 left. Jaynes was stopped short of the goal line, enabling the ninth-ranked Vols to hold on for a 28-27 victory.

Jaynes completed 35 of 58 passes—school records—for three scores and his yardage total was seven short of his own KU mark.

The other members of The Associated Press Top Ten had it easier than Tennessee...but some didn't have it easy.

Top-ranked Ohio State trimmed Washington State 27-3 as Archie Griffin and new fullback Bruce Elia split four touchdowns while slick quarterback Cornelius Greene ran and passed the Cougars dizzy.

won the World Series in 1969, fired a masterful two-hitter in the Mets' win Sunday.

The day before Mets hurler Tom Seaver set a NL playoff record with 13 strikeouts but still lost on a ninth-inning homer by Johnny Bench.

"Matlack pitched a better game than Seaver did," acknowledged Pete Rose, the sparkplug of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine.

Today the Reds send Ross Grimsley, 13-10, against another Mets lefty, Jerry Koosman, 14-15.

"I sat here yesterday and said I don't expect Matlack to pitch as well as Seaver," Rose declared from his locker stool.

"Now doggone," he said with a grimace. "I sure don't expect Koosman to throw as good as Matlack."

With the exception of Sunday's ninth inning when the Mets scored four runs on a walk and five singles, Reds' pitching has also been outstanding.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead Sunday when Rusty Staub belted a solo homer to right in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Don Gullett.

It was the only run off Gullett, who worked five innings and allowed two hits before bowing to a pinch hitter in the fifth.

The Mets' four-run burst in the last inning came off relievers Tom Hall and Pedro Borbon. Jerry Grote's bases-loaded single drove in two of the runs.

Meanwhile, Matlack allowed only two Reds to reach second base the entire game, and he notched nine strikeouts and just three walks.

A's square playoff

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, having proved the Baltimore Orioles aren't invincible in American League playoff competition, return home today with confidence they can win the current best-of-five series.

"I think we have the advantage now," Oakland manager Dick Williams said after a home run barrage gave the A's a 6-3 victory Sunday and evened the series at one game apiece. "We're in pretty good shape.

"We're going back to our own park, and we have two 20-game winners to throw at them."

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, having suffered his first playoff defeat after 10 consecutive victories, found it hard to fathom that being 1-1 was a disadvantage.

"Unless the second game means more than the first one," he said,

"we're still even. We have to win two out of three now, and so do they."

Weaver, who didn't even have to use one of his four 20-game winners while beating the A's in the 1971 playoffs, can't match Oakland in that regard for the next two games, at least.

Left-hander Ken Holtzman was to start for Oakland in today's game, 3:30 p.m. EDT, against Baltimore lefty Mike Cuellar, an 18-game winner during the regular season.

Lefty Vida Blue, who was knocked from the mound in the first inning of Saturday's opener, has been named by Williams to start game No. 4.

Weaver said he would stick with his original plans to pitch young Doyle Alexander in the fourth game. While Alexander won just 12 during the regular season, one of those was a one-run, complete game victory over the A's.

The Orioles out-homered the A's 18-16 during regular season series, won by Oakland 7-5, but five of those hit by the A's came off Dave McNally, who was rapped for four more on Sunday.

Third baseman Sal Bando slammed two drives into the left field bleachers, after being robbed on his previous at bat when Al Bumby reached high above the fence to pull down an apparent homer.

Solo homers also were hit by Bert Campaneris and Joe Rudi, as the A's scored all but one of their runs on round-trippers.

Campaneris, who rammed into center fielder Angel Mangual for a miscue which could have proved costly, also had two singles, two stolen bases, batted in two runs and scored twice.

Cleveland offense jells in 17-10 win over Cincy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich stopped complaining about his offense Sunday. "It was the best performance this year by the offensive line," Skorich said after the Browns galloped past the Cincinnati Bengals 17-10 in a National Football League game.

"Ken Brown did some great running," Skorich continued. "He broke some tackles and used his blocking well. Leroy Kelly's running was also very good."

Kelly and Brown combined for 166

yards on 47 carries and Kelly scored twice on runs of three and seven yards.

"I think we're ready to show we have an offensive team now and put it all together against Miami," said Kelly, who injured his thigh in the final period.

"I don't think it (the injury) will keep me out," Kelly added.

Brown said that he and Kelly were "running a lot of finesse plays."

"He was blocking for me and I was blocking for him," Brown said. "The entire offensive line was really firing off. We had big holes on either side and up the middle."

Skorich said the game plan was to stay on the ground "because of the pass protection trouble we've had."

Quarterback Mike Phipps did his share of running also and gained 52 yards in four carries.

"It worries me to see Phipps run," Skorich said. "It's nice to see him get up and go back to the huddle."

The Bengals fumbled twice in the American Conference Central Division contest and both times cornerback Ben Davis recovered for the Browns and Cleveland went on to score.

Bengals coach Paul Brown admitted that the better team won.

"They (Cleveland) deserved to win," Brown said. "We didn't play well."

Bengals center Bob Johnson said "if you want to know what made the difference in this game is was their (Cleveland's) offense."

"They made zero mistakes when they had the ball," Johnson added. "We had to try and stop them. They never stopped themselves."

The Bengals led through the first quarter on a Horst Muhlmann field goal but the Browns started the second half with a 7-3 edge and never lost it.

Jaycees grab lead in Pony grid loop

The Jaycees emerged as the leader in the Washington C.H. Pony Football League following Saturday night's action at Gardner Park Stadium.

Coach Wes Wilson's Jaycees posted their second straight win by beating the defending champion Interns 16-0 in the nightcap. Domenico's Dividends tightened the standings by handing Frisch's Big Boys a 28-0 setback. The loss was the first of the season for the Big Boys.

THE JAYCEES, now 2-0 on the season, got a pair of long scoring runs from two players to handle the Interns. Bill Horney scampered 70 yards for a touchdown and then added the extras while Robbie James turned in a 54-yard touchdown run. Horney ran for the extras following James' touchdown. Eddie Forsythe and Dean Short scored two touchdowns apiece in leading the Dividends to their first win in two outings. Forsythe scored both of the touchdowns on quarterback sneaks, while Short scored on a pair of short runs.

Forsythe passed to Tom Shields for two sets of extra points in the game.

In next Saturday night's games at Gardner Park Stadium, the Jaycees will meet the Big Boys in the 6 p.m. opener and the Dividends will clash with the Marksmen in the nightcap. The Interns will have the bye.

Newspapers act to live with newsprint shortages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The newsprint shortage has forced the nation's newspapers to experiment with the kind and amount of news they offer. Some editors see unexpected benefits in the cutbacks they have had to make.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association mailed questionnaires on the newsprint shortage and its effects to its members.

The APME survey showed that 295 of the 470 newspapers which replied had cut some news from the paper. Others cut advertising or reduced circulation.

Almost 100 of the papers reported that there was a good side to the shortage. Fifty-two of the newspapers said they would not reinstate all of the material they cut because they discovered some was outmoded or unneeded. Thirty-three papers said the newsprint shortage caused tighter writing and editing and six papers said they received valuable response from readers as a result of the crunch.

"We realized that many 'sacred cows' were not so revered when their excommunication provoked little, if any, adverse reaction," said a spokesman for the Herald Dispatch of Huntington, W.Va.

The Review Times of Fostoria, Ohio, said it was using the shortage "as an excuse to make a number of changes we've been unable to make before." The Asbury Park, N.J., Press said the tight paper situation was "a great excuse to cut out traditional nonnews."

The Union, in Grass Valley, Calif., said it "cleaned up typography — eliminated space waste."

The newspapers also said they learned more about what people want to read.

"We learned that bridge column fans are fanatics," said the Minneapolis Star.

"We've found what we can drop and what we can't," agreed the Herald-Telephone of Bloomington, Ind. "Dropped half (the) comics one day and were deluged with protest. Response to other deletions hasn't been comparable."

Some papers said they had made plans in case the shortage — caused by strikes at mills and railroads in Canada — gets worse.

DeWitt H. Scott, executive editor of The Express of Easton, Pa., said he had a detailed plan of action in case further cutbacks are necessary.

"I think newspapers should have such battle plans ready just as they do for a racial riot, a blizzard, flood or other emergency," Scott said. "Above all, I think we should be forthright with our readers, telling them in front-page stories what we are doing and why. Part of our ... planning, for instance, involves asking the readers to advise us on what they consider most expendable."

The Clearwater, Fla., Sun, however, said "Reader response is a bad guide for eliminating most types of material. Perhaps we have benefitted from a more intense self-examination."

Most papers said the readers really didn't react to cutbacks. Only 39 editors reported overwhelmingly negative reaction from readers; many others said the readers weren't happy, but accepted the situation with understanding.

Deletion of things like the crossword puzzle, the comics, the horoscope and the bridge column drew the most protests, editors said.

The Minneapolis Tribune said it got 109 calls the first day after it dropped the crossword puzzle. It was restored.

The Morning Record of Meriden, Conn., reinstated the horoscope after protests from readers.

The type and size of cutbacks varied with the size and location of the newspaper.

One of the survey questions asked newspapers which they would cut first: international news, national news, features and women's news, sports or local news. Of the 295 papers which responded that they had cut some news, 140 said they cut international news first, 35 said national news, 67 reported features and women's news, 14 said sports and 11 said local news. The remainder cut stock lists or TV schedules or other tabular material.

Another question asked the papers to specify the categories which they had cut.

Two-hundred twenty-one papers said they cut at least some syndicated feature material — things like opinion columns. The cuts ranged from an average of three columns of space a day in the smaller papers to an average of nearly five columns of space in papers with circulations from 75,000 to 200,000.

In other findings:

—212 papers said they cut some wire service features.

—174 papers reported cutting some hard news from news services about the day's events.

—136 papers cut back the comics.

Some newspapers — 199 of the 470 included in the total — said the paper shortage caused them to change their basic design.

Eight papers cut the size of photos; 44 reduced the size of headlines; 28 cut back on the amount of blank space around news or advertising; 11 made type smaller, and 10 made major changes in their editorial pages to include advertising or general news.

The survey found 201 newspapers using AP news summaries some or all of the time. The summaries, condensations of world, national and Washington news, were inaugurated by AP to help newspapers conserve space during the newsprint pinch.

Only 47 per cent of the newspapers with a circulation of over 200,000 said they cut the amount of news in the paper as a result of the shortage. Sixty per cent of the papers with a circulation under 25,000 cut news; 70 per cent with a circulation between 25,000 and 75,000 reduced the news, and 73 per cent of the 75,000 to 100,000 group made news cutbacks.

The cuts varied in size. In the under-25,000 circulation bracket, the typical reduction was 40 columns a day or 60 per cent of the size of the paper. In the over-200,000 category, the most common cutback was also 40 columns, but it comprised only 20 per cent of the space normally devoted to news.

Fewer than 9 per cent of the papers responding to the survey cut advertising, and ad reduction was more common in larger papers.

Just came for dinner and didn't stay long

Tomie E. Brag told police he and his wife had left their residence one evening. When they returned they found a third place setting at the dinner table. They then discovered someone had cooked two pork chops, and eaten a pan of cabbage Mrs. Brag had fixed.

Brag said a skillet was still hot, apparently from cooking the pork chops.

The bidding:

Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠
Pass	2♦	Pass	3♠
Pass	4♠

Opeing lead - seven of diamonds.
This deal occurred in the Netherlands-Italy match in the 1966 world championship.
With Garozzo North and Forquet South for Italy, the bidding went as shown. The Italians were playing the Neopolitan Club system and, in accordance with it, Garozzo bid a club, indicating 17 or more points.
Two clubs by Forquet was also an artificial bid. It showed two aces and a king, and had nothing whatever to do with clubs as a suit.

From then on, the bidding was natural. Garozzo showed his diamonds and Forquet jumped to three spades, indicating a long and strong spade suit. Garozzo raised to four and Forquet passed, realizing that partner could not have the ace of clubs - he would have bid four clubs in that case - and that North's clubs might indeed be of poor quality.

West led his singleton diamond and Forquet made eleven tricks to score a seemingly normal 650 points.

At the second table, with DeLeeuw North and Blitzblum South for Holland, the bidding was less scientific but more successful! It went:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♦	Pass	1♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3♠
Pass	3 NT	Pass	6♠

West led the jack of hearts and Blitzblum had no trouble taking 13 tricks. Three clubs was probably meant to inhibit West from leading that suit - through in the actual hand West would hardly have led a club even if the suit had not been bid.

Strangely enough, had West led a diamond he would have stopped the slam, but in fact West chose the far from abnormal heart lead. So Holland gained 810 points on the deal, and in that way punished Garozzo and Forquet for being too scientific!

Treating a Pilonidal Cyst

I am 38 years old. I suddenly developed a painful cyst at the base of my spine.

I have been told I have a pilonidal cyst and that it has been present all my life.

How could this be that it never bothered me?

Mr. H.J., Ohio

Dear Mr. J.:

A pilonidal cyst is actually a birth defect. Some improper fusion is responsible for this unusual condition. The cyst, located at the lowest part of the spine, rarely causes trouble during childhood and adolescence. It appears most frequently in adulthood.

The cyst, which has been lying dormant, may be activated by injury or infection, and then becomes painful.

Pilonidal cysts are rarely brought to the attention of the doctor before they are infected and troublesome. The cyst is then opened and the pus and other material evacuated. However, there is a tendency for these infections to recur unless the cyst is removed completely by surgery.

Surgery was once a very complicated procedure, and healing took many weeks. Today, the operation is performed in a simple manner. After the cyst is removed, the wound is completely closed and healing is more rapid.

The operation is a safe one. There is great value in having it performed before the cyst and the surrounding tissue have been devitalized by infection.

From the time my daughter was 8 years old she had periods during which she constantly pulled her hair out of her scalp. Sometimes areas the size of a quarter or more would be bald.

She stopped for a while. Now, at the age of 12, she is doing it again.

There is no way that I can control it by reprimanding her. I know of no one who has ever had this experience with a child.

Mrs. H.J., Ga.

Dear Mrs. J.:

The compulsive drive for a child to pull out hair has for years been recognized as a sign of psychological disturbance. The condition is known as "Trichotillomania." It exists in children who often have many other evidences of psychological stress.

At the time you first noticed this habit, it would have been better if psychological tests had been done. There might have been some indication of the emotional problems that stimulated the habit.

For some unexplained reason, the compulsive hair-pulling stopped for a few years, and now has returned.

Since it is recognized that psychological disturbances are related to this condition, it is important that you concentrate on this aspect of the problem rather than on the hair-pulling itself.

Punishment or nagging is the wrong approach. It may temporarily stop the habit, but her basic need for psychological study and treatment will only be delayed.

Tunnel razed; was man's home

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It was just a dark tunnel, littered with junk and noisy with the scurry of rats. But John Vasco called it home for 17 years.

Then a wrecking crew moved in Wednesday and destroyed it.

The tunnel had been formed by one wall of a viaduct, its overhang and a wall of the Tennessee Casket Co. building.

"We tore down almost half of the old building before we knew he was in there," said Murlon Love, a private contractor who was demolishing the casket firm's building. "He told us he was going to die there."

Inside the tunnel, about four feet wide and almost 100 feet long, were piles of broken dolls, bottles and old clothes. One wall was covered with rows of crosses, strange figures and random words scribbled in chalk. At the rear was a small shelf where Vasco slept.

He said his wife died back in the early 1950s and "the spirit told him the only place he'd be safe is in that tunnel," Love said.

Residents of the neighborhood said

he often walked the streets wearing a tattered straw hat and carrying a black satchel, which he filled with additions to his collection of junk.

Vasco's background is a mystery, and he wouldn't talk much to reporters.

"I was created in the midSouth and had to flee the flood," the old man told a reporter without elaboration.

Capt. C.E. Torian, a fire marshal who is trying to find a place for Vasco to live, said he had ordered Vasco out several times without success. On Wednesday afternoon, Torian found Vasco at a supermarket and brought him back to the tunnel so he could collect his things.

"See if you want any of these things," Torian said, pointing to the piles on the floor.

"All of these things mean something to me," the old man said. As he lifted an old boot, a rat ran out.

Torian took him back outside as Love's bulldozer was poised to rip down the wall.

"I'm not going to move," Vasco said. "I'm supposed to live there."

Then he said, "I'll stay without the wall. All I have to do is listen to the music." He swept his arm toward the neighborhood filled with the noise of traffic and bars.

As Love put the bulldozer into gear and yanked the tunnel wall into a pile of dust and rubble, Torian led the old man away.

Inchworms have legs only on the front and back segments of their bodies, which explains their looping fashion of moving.

VISITING LECTURER — Dr. Nicholas Georgiady lectures to class of 20 teachers and administrators on "how to make school more fun and meaningful."

School can be fun, educator emphasizes

Dr. Nicholas Georgiady's course on the curriculum of the middle school might very well be called, "How to make school more fun!"

The class of 20 administrators and teachers are learning from Dr. Georgiady the most dynamic ways to teach students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades or "middle school" range.

Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of Washington C.H. schools, explained: "Students in these grades are at a very formative age. They make up their minds whether or not they like school and if their decision is negative, they start dropping out."

Nestor believes this can be prevented by better approaches to teaching methods and better methods themselves.

"School is supposed to be fun! School is supposed to be exciting!" Nestor observed.

The class meets on the top floor of Washington Junior High School building on North Street every Friday from 4-6 p.m. and Saturday mornings from 9 til noon.

Dr. Georgiady, a writer and lecturer, who received his doctor of philosophy degree in education from the University of Wisconsin and has served as deputy superintendent of schools for the state of Michigan, has invited interested parents and public to sit in on his class.

'Turning point' near in Mideastern war?

BOMBS IN MIDDLE EAST — Smoke from an impacting shell fired from Syria rises in northern Israeli settlement as fighting between the two countries broke out.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel said Syrian forces were "in full retreat" from the Golan Heights toward Damascus today, but Syria said its troops had repulsed the Israelis and Egypt claimed it totally controlled the east bank of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli state radio said Israeli troops and armor pursued the retreating Syrians. The broadcast said Syrian soldiers were running away on foot and that Syrian columns began withdrawing toward Damascus, less than 40 miles from the battle lines.

Egypt, meanwhile, said its tanks punched deeper into the Sinai under cover from warplanes knocking out vital Israeli defenses. Israel said its forces were on the offensive and had destroyed all bridges across the Suez Canal, trapping Egyptian troops in the desert without supplies.

In Washington, President Nixon said the United States seeks support in the U.N. Security Council for a position

"we hope and believe will be effective," but gave no indication as to the nature of the Mideast proposal the United States will present to the council.

The Israeli state radio's authoritative commentator, Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog, said Israeli tanks were slashing toward the canal with fresh crews and said Israel was near a "dramatic turning point" in the three-day-old war.

But an Egyptian communique broadcast by Cairo radio said the Israeli attempt to destroy cross-canal pontoon assault bridges had failed and Egyptian jets were blasting Israeli airfields in support of advancing Egyptian armor.

A communique from the Syrian military command also reported heavy fighting on the other major front, the Golan Heights near Israel's northeastern border with Syria. The Damascus broadcast claimed Syrian jets backing ground troops in the heights knocked down 32 more Israeli fighters.

That brought the kill count claimed by Syria and Egypt to more than a fourth of Israel's 480-plane air force. The Tel Aviv command has kept silent but declared it had command of the skies on both fronts.

Israel said that it fought a holding action Saturday and Sunday while it brought up its reserves, but this morning its warplanes hit five Syrian air bases and Egyptian targets.

A communique reported heavy losses and damage inflicted on the Syrians. The Israeli command said the Egyptians sent "a large number" of planes on bombing missions deep in the Sinai desert, and five of them were brought down in dogfights or by ground fire.

The Israeli radio said furious air battles raged over both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts and claimed they were the first such aerial actions of the new war.

As the new Middle East war went into its third day, Arab guerrillas hit Israeli settlements in North Galilee with Katyusha rockets and mortars, but no casualties were reported. The Israeli radio said most of the attacks came from southern Lebanon.

An effort to get a cease-fire appeal from the U.N. Security Council collapsed Sunday because the Russians, Chinese and other allies of the Arabs insisted that it contain a demand for Israel to give up the territory it seized in the 1967 war. A council meeting requested by the United States was expected this afternoon, but Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Israel would not accept a cease-fire until the Arab forces were driven back to the lines they crossed Saturday.

An Israeli communique Sunday night said the Egyptians have suffered heavy losses in armored duels and from Israeli air strikes. It said that Israel has consolidated its forces on the Egyptian front.

The communique said that air strikes have damaged or destroyed nine of the

Deeply divided U.N. to debate outbreak of war

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A deeply divided United Nations faced the new Middle East conflict on two fronts today. Much debate but no concrete action is expected in both the Security Council and the General Assembly.

President Nixon called Sunday night for a Security Council meeting after two days of intensive U.S. diplomatic consultations. The meeting was expected to start at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

There was no indication what specific action the United States would seek.

British efforts for a cease-fire appeal by the council president collapsed under Soviet, Chinese and nonaligned opposition.

The appeal would have been made by the president, Sir Laurence McIntyre of Australia, on behalf of all 15 council members. But the necessary unanimity could not be mustered because Israel's opponents insisted on a demand that Israel withdraw from all Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian territory occupied in the 1967 war.

The Arabs have not been pressing for a meeting of the Security Council, nor has Israel. The five permanent members of the council can veto resolutions they don't like. The last veto cast in the council was by U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali on July 26, killing a resolution that strongly deplored Israel's failure to withdraw from the occupied territory.

Before the afternoon council meeting, the 135-nation assembly was to hear statements on the new war from Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed H. el Zayyat and Syria's deputy foreign minister, Zakaria Ismail. It was probable that Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban also would speak.

With its powerful Arab, African, Asian and Communist blocs, the assembly has struck Israel repeatedly with denunciatory motions.

Demo quota system dies in committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The quota system, which helped split the Democratic party last year, has been written out of party rules and seemingly buried forever by the reform commission's drafting committee.

In a unanimous vote Sunday, the committee approved a rule deleting the language that led to mandatory quotas for women, youth and minorities at the 1972 national convention. The new rule, however, still commits the party to overcome past discrimination.

Tentatively approved bit-by-bit over three-day weekend meeting, the new rule was adopted on final passage Sunday in what was acclaimed by both sides as a successful compromise.

Leaders of both factions predicted the compromise version would be approved by the full reform commission later this month and the Democratic National Committee early next year.

The drafting committee also approved a proportional representation replacement for winner-take-all delegate selection procedures and made room for Democratic officials who complained they were shut out of the 1972 convention.

Another change would allow presidential contenders a voice in the selection of delegates pledged to them. Party officials said it would prevent the situation that arose last year in which some candidates, principally George Wallace, won delegates in primaries only to have the delegate seats filled by persons supporting other candidates.

The 1972 quota rule was produced by a commission headed by Sen. George McGovern.

It resulted in unprecedented numbers of women, young people, blacks and members of other minority groups at last year's Miami Beach convention. But it also was a major divisive force in the party.

Protests and defections came particularly from party regulars who had to give up their convention seats to make way for the newcomers.

This year no one spoke in favor of quotas, although reformers insisted on continued efforts to bring in previously under-represented groups.

British jet forced down

BAHRAIN (AP) — Two South Yemen MIGs forced a British Airways Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner carrying 268 passengers and 19 crew members to land in Aden today, but the plane and everyone aboard was allowed to depart nearly three hours later, airport sources reported.

The informants said the plane, bound from London to Nairobi, took off at 2:33 p.m. — 7:33 a.m. EDT. The flight was intercepted at 11:40 a.m. — 4:40 a.m. EDT.

There was no immediate explanation for the Yemeni move.

South Yemen is a former British colony on the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula.

Cairo and Damascus residents mostly calm

CAIRO (AP) — The usual Sunday crowds strolled the streets of Cairo, seemingly unconcerned that Israeli jets along the Suez Canal were only seven minutes away.

But by 9:30 p.m. the Egyptian capital was almost blacked out, and few people were on the streets. There were no air raids, but all the papers carried detailed instructions of what to do in case of one.

Thousands of Syrians fled into air raid shelters in Damascus, the other Arab war capital, following Israeli air strikes on military airfields near the

New baby delivered by grandpa

SOUTH PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — When Vincent DeMartino saw his grandson for the first time, crying and redfaced, he couldn't have been happier.

He also couldn't have been more surprised because grandpa, a New York bartender better known to his patrons as "Vinnie," had just played a makeshift role of obstetrician.

There was almost no warning that the baby was due.

"My daughter felt a labor pain, so my wife went to call the doctor. She was barely on the phone when 'Pow!' here comes the baby," DeMartino said Sunday.

"She told the doctor 'I hear crying, but that can't be!' and I said 'Yes it can. Here he is!' By the time she hung up the phone and came back into the room, she was a grandmother!"

When the doctor finally got to see Kenneth Michael Hamilton, 6 pounds, 9½ ounces, it was apparent grandpa had been an excellent substitute.

Environment study pinpoints worth

WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-year project to appraise nature in the same currency as a dam or canal has estimated fish and wildlife alone are worth a whopping $24 billion a year to recreation users in southeastern states.

Other areas of the country were not studied.

The study, due for release later this month, hands new ammunition to environmental groups that feel the environmental costs of land and water development projects outweigh the economic benefits.

Economist Joseph Horvath, leader of the government-sponsored study, told a newsman the $24 billion estimate for the Southeast was, if anything, on the conservative side.

"You could go to the Supreme Court with this study, it is so thoroughly done," Horvath said in an interview.

That is exactly where it may end up some day, as environment groups continue to file lawsuits to block federal construction projects.

Many projects, such as dams and other major public works, must by law be justified with proof that their benefits are greater than their costs.

But the intangible values of nature have been difficult to estimate in dollars, and therefore have been scarcely counted on the cost side of the cost-benefit equation.

Horvath, chairman of the Environmental Research Group at Georgia State University in Atlanta, said that when he took on the project in 1968 he had to find some way of part on learning who fired a .45 caliber weapon which had been issued to an Ohio National guardsman who wasn't on the scene.

The Akron Beacon Journal said it has learned that one of the pistols fired at Kent was issued to Spec. 5 Frank Haas, who was on duty at the Ravenna Armory at the time of the bloody clash between guardsmen and antiwar demonstrators.

Four students were killed and nine were wounded when the guardsmen opened fire on demonstrators.

The Beacon Journal said Saturday that Haas, a former member of Troop G of the 107th Armored Cavalry, confirmed that FBI agents questioned him about the pistol and told him it had been fired May 4, 1970. Haas said the FBI was satisfied with his explanation that he was not on campus at the time but was on duty with other mechanics at the armory.

FBI investigators have been quoted as saying four .45 caliber cartridges found at the shooting scene came from a weapon which did not belong to any of those men who admitted firing guns.

estimating the dollar worth of environmental intangibles.

The result was the assignment of some 400 field interviewers to question 12,068 households from Maryland to eastern Texas and from Arkansas to Florida—roughly ten times the usual sampling of the established nationwide public opinion polls.

The survey searched out residents who customarily indulged in hunting, fishing, bird-watching or other forms of recreation that depend on fish and wildlife.

COLUMBIANA, Ohio (AP) — A light plane crashed along Lower Elkton Road a mile south of this northeast Ohio town today, killing the pilot.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the pilot was from Texas, but gave no other identification.

U. S. mounts Mideast peace push

WASHINGTON (AP) — After exchanging personal messages with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, President Nixon said today the United States will propose action he hopes and believes "will be effective in stopping the fighting" in the Middle East.

After Nixon talked briefly with newsmen in his Oval Office, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler disclosed that Nixon and Brezhnev exchanged private messages Sunday that were channeled through the Soviet embassy here and the American embassy in Moscow. Ziegler said the Washington-Moscow "hotline" was not used.

Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the United States was seeking broad international support for a move in the United Nations Security Council that they hope could lead to an end to the conflict.

Ziegler, conducting his first press briefing in weeks, said Kissinger has been in close touch with the foreign ministers of Egypt and Israel. Ziegler expressed the view that these contacts "perhaps give us a better opportunity" to promote an end to the fighting than was possible during the six-day Arab-Israeli war in 1967.

Ziegler said Kissinger has been in close touch with "all parties who have an interest in the area." He said the meetings included an unannounced meeting Saturday night with Huang Chen, head of Communist China's liaison office in Washington.

The press secretary said the U.S. objective is an end to the fighting followed by a search for an over-all Middle East settlement.

Because of the new Arab-Israeli conflict, Ziegler said Nixon is canceling plans to fly to Carthage, Tenn., Saturday to dedicate a dam named for former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Asked if the United States felt the Soviet Union was prepared to urge restraint by its Arab allies as a result of the Nixon-Brezhnev exchanges, Ziegler said, "I don't think now is the time to sugar ration would be halved, and within half an hour many stores had none.

"This time I am sure the Egyptians will win," said Abaas Ramdan, selling souvenirs outside the Cairo Museum. "What if we lost hundreds or even thousands but won this time?"

The city's leading hotels were reported fairly full of tourists, and one official said they seemed much calmer than those caught in Cairo by the 1967 war. Many were reported anxious to leave, but the Cairo airport was closed, and sea traffic out of Alexandria was halted.

characterize the attitude" of any other nation.

Ziegler said he could not get into details of Nixon's exchange with Brezhnev.

"It's a serious situation . . . and we are doing everything we can on the diplomatic side," Ziegler said.

When a reporter asked if Nixon's cancellation of the planned trip to Tennessee reflected presidential pessimism over prospects for an early end to the fighting, Ziegler said he would not predict developments in the United Nations or on the battlefronts.

Nixon transmitted a message to Brezhnev Sunday before leaving Key Biscayne, Fla., Ziegler said, and Brezhnev's response was received after the President returned to the White House late Sunday night. Ziegler indicated only two messages — one in each direction — were involved.

Kissinger busy in latest crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger's first crisis as secretary of state, the Middle East war, is a test of his endurance as well as of his capacity to focus on several major diplomatic fronts at the same time.

It also provides evidence of the limited power of the United States and its secretary of state.

In the last few hours before massive fighting erupted, Kissinger, impelled mostly by urgent warnings from the Israelis, tried to head the war off with a flurry of cables and telephone calls to King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el-Zayyat and others.

The effort did not succeed.

Now the United States intends to call the U.N. Security Council into session with full awareness that the odds against a way being found there to end the hostilities are high.

Diplomatic sources noted that in an effort to shorten them Israel has left the United States a clear field, offering no diplomatic initiatives of its own.

But Washington probably can count at best on only Britain and Australia in the 15-nation council for any proposal that is not heavily weighted against Israel.

These sources expect the war to be settled in the field, the results depending primarily on whether Egypt can repair links across the Suez Canal to its forces in the Sinai.

The war broke out at a time when Kissinger was concentrating on two other areas — Europe and China. U.S.

officials said he still intends to fly to London this weekend for meetings with European foreign ministers on the status of his proposed new Atlantic Charter. And, they said, his schedule still calls for visits to Japan and China toward the end of the month.

But now the Middle East fighting must dominate his attention.

Kissinger worked at the State Department from early Sunday morning until late into the night. He sought assessments from a panel of senior foreign-policy advisers known as the Special Action Group. He telephoned Ambassador Dobrynin.

Wallace eyes

1976 race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's interest in seeking the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination was underscored this weekend by the presence of two top aides as rules for that battle were drafted.

Readily acknowledging their intentions, they made clear that Wallace won't repeat his 1972 mistake of running in presidential preference primaries while making little effort outside the South to win convention delegates.

Mickey Griffin, the governor's 25-year-old executive assistant and a member of both the Democratic National Committee and its executive committee, told an interviewer his watchful eye over the writing of delegate selection rules is related "a great deal" to the governor's 1976 plans.

Traffic accidents on Ohio's streets and highways claimed more than a score of lives for the second consecutive weekend. Multiple-death smashups Sunday pushed the toll to 22.

The count was taken from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Firman shot attempting to escape

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gordon "Spunky" Firman, the "barefoot bandit" of 1960, was in good condition Sunday night at a prison hospital here after being shot at least four times while trying to escape from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility.

Firman was transferred to the Central Medical Center at Ohio Penitentiary after being shot in both arms, one leg and the chest, prison officials said.

The spokesman said Firman bolted for a double wire fence around the Lucasville prison while on the way back from a visit in another part of the institution.

Verbal orders and several warning shots failed to halt him, the spokesman said. Firman had climbed the first fence and reached the top of the second and last enclosure when he was shot.

The spokesman said Firman tried to climb the fence again after being shot, but was pulled down by a guard.

But the 34-year-old Firman was not the same man who was shot by police in 1960 and scornfully told them, "Give me a pen knife and I'll dig the slug out myself."

4 persons slain

OVANDO, Mont. (AP) — Four persons died Sunday in a bizarre shooting incident on a dude ranch near this western Montana community.

Police launched a search for a former mental patient from Decatur, Ill., who officers said was seen leaving the ranch carrying rifles and shotguns.

Powell County Sheriff David J. Collings said a first-degree murder warrant for a man who had worked at the Whitetail Ranch under the alias of Tex McCord. Collings said the man's true name apparently was Roger Caryl.

Man may gain his freedom after years in jail, asylum

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — A 62-year-old Philippine immigrant has a chance for freedom after spending more than half his life in state prisons and mental hospitals with almost no chance to talk with anyone.

Officials said Vincent Dawa, who speaks a Philippine dialect, has been able to hold only extremely limited conversations during his 34 years of confinement since being condemned to death for murder.

He has learned only a few words of English since entering a prison in 1939, six months before the start of World War II, authorities said.

On Wednesday, Dawa is to appear in Marin County Superior Court here for a sanity hearing which could be the first step toward gaining a parole.

Dawa was a 28-year-old farm worker when convicted in 1939 of fatally shooting a Chinese fan-tan dealer in Sacramento. Witnesses said Dawa accused the dealer of cheating him of of Dresden, in a two-car collision on Ohio 60 in Muskingum County.

CHARDON — George K. Baylog, of rural Huntsburg, in a one-car crash on U.S. 6 at the Gauga-Ashtabula County line.

FRIDAY NIGHT

WAPAKONETA — David Schmiesing, 14, of Route 1, Minster, in a three-car accident on a rural road in Auglaize County.

TOLEDO — Peter Wise, 20, of Harbor View, when his motorcycle struck a utility pole in Oregon.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service predicted another mild day for Ohio today, with temperatures climbing into the 70s and 80s.

The unseasonably warm weather is created by a high pressure area near the Atlantic Coast and a low pressure system in the plains. Forecasters said it is expected to continue until mid-week.

Readings tonight will drop into the 60s and upper 50s, the weather service said.

Skies were mostly cloudy Sunday night, with a few showers reported near Lima and Marion. Some rain was likely today in southeastern counties.

Ohioans can expect warm weather Wednesday, followed by cooling Thursday and Friday. There will be a chance of showers late Wednesday and Thursday with fair skies on Friday. Highs Wednesday will be in the 70s with lows in the 50s or low 60s. Thursday and Friday will see highs in the 60s and lows in the 40s.

Light rain still around

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered light rain lingered across the nation from the western states to the Appalachians today.

Rainfall was generally less than a third of an inch before dawn. However, 1 to 2 inches of rain fell Sunday on parts of central California, and Huntsville, Ala., received 1.3 inches.

Showers and a few thundershowers were scattered over Florida and from northern Alabama and Mississippi across the Ohio Valley to New York and the middle Atlantic coastal states.

Skies were fair over New England and across the southern states from the Southern Plateau to the south Atlantic coast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 30 at Redmond and Baker, Ore., to 80 at Vero Beach, Miami and Key West, Fla.

War in Mideast

11 pontoon bridges the Egyptians threw across the canal.

Egypt, however, said that it continued to move men across the bridges. Earlier Sunday it said it had solidified its foothold along the eastern bank of the 103-mile canal.

A broadcast by the Israeli state radio said reserve units were being brought into the fighting against the Egyptians. Foreign newsmen have been prevented from reaching the fighting areas, but Israeli radio broadcasts said Egypt had sent more than 400 tanks across the canal during the first 24 hours of fighting.

Israel said it drove the Syrians back all along the Golan Heights except at Khushniye, which is about three miles inside the old cease-fire line. A communique said heavy losses were inflicted on the Syrian forces and Israel's defense lines had been stabilized.

The Syrians claimed, however, that their forces had repelled the Israeli counterattack, inflicting huge losses, and were continuing to advance into the Heights.

"A large number of Israeli pilots and soldiers were captured," Damascus Radio said. The broadcast told the Syrians to assist downed Israeli pilots, spare their lives, and turn them over to the authorities.

He became enraged when the dealer laughed at him.

He was condemned to die in San Quentin's gas chamber. But the execution was postponed three times before a psychiatrist convinced a judge to rule him insane and transfer him from prison to a mental institution in 1941.

Buford Tomey, Dawa's court-appointed attorney, said medical records either weren't kept or have disappeared for the first 20 years of his client's hospitalization.

Since 1960, records describe Dawa as "quiet, docile and a good worker."

He was transferred to the California Men's Colony at San Luis Obispo last year and, with the help of a counselor there, began his attempt to gain freedom.

A Sacramento judge changed Dawa's sentence to life imprisonment in March of this year, making parole a possibility. But the state parole board cannot act on a prisoner ruled insane.

REJECTS FREEDOM — Vladimir Bukovsky, a 31-year-old Soviet writer, has rejected an official offer of freedom after years of prison, labor camps and forced mental treatment. Bukovsky, now very ill and weak, refused to sign a pledge that he would never again distribute or write anti-Soviet criticism in order to gain his freedom, according to friends.

3 shootings at Cleveland gang work?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland homicide detectives have joined the investigation of the slayings of two men and the wounding of a third southeast of Cleveland.

Ex-convict Robert Boggess, 33, of Mayfield Heights and William Whitcomb, 33, address unknown were found shot to death about a mile apart Saturday—Whitcomb in Twinsburg Township and Boggess in Oakwood.

Wounded was 38-year-old Salvatore Carcione of Northfield, who told police he was shot while telephoning from a public booth in Oakwood.

Carcione was reported in serious condition under police guard in Bedford Community Hospital.

Police said several possible reasons for the shootings were being investigated, including a possible link with Cleveland's Model Cities program.

A notebook found in Carcione's pocket reportedly contained a reference to the Aug. 6 shooting and wounding of Model Cities director Robert Doggett outside his offices.

Police said Carcione has a record dating back to 1957. He and Boggess were convicted in 1968 of beating a Middleburg Heights coin dealer and robbing him of a $30,000 collection.

Police said little was known about Whitcomb. Identification was delayed several hours because no papers or other identifying materials were found on the body.

Oakwood acting Police Chief Donald Barney said Boggess and Carcione were "not small time hoods. They were big operators."

Police sources said one theory was that a fallout over splitting criminal loot might have been involved in the shootings.

Carcione was paroled from prison last May after serving about five years. Boggess was paroled after only six months in prison.

Stock list recovering

NEW YORK (AP) — After being sharply lower near opening today, stock market prices began recovering. But they remained on the downside in what analysts said was a correction spurred by the unexpected outbreak of war in the Mideast.

At noon, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had been down more than 10 points near opening, was down 2.10 at 969.15. Declining Big Board issues had a 3-to-1 lead over advancers in strong volume. The Dow blue-chip indicator ended last week at its highest closing level since mid-March.

International oils were down in heavy volume after several issues were delayed in opening because of order imbalances.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .14 at 106.61. Volume leader on the Amex was Buttes Gas, down 1 1/8 at 29 3/4.

Heck's, Inc., up 1/4 at 15 1/2, was the Big Board volume leader.

The Big Board's broad-based index of some 1,500 common stocks was down .13 at 59.21.

Exhaust fumes kill 2 persons

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Fumes from the running engine of a car killed two members of a Canton family today and hospitalized two others, Louis Napier, chief Stark County sheriff's deputy, reported.

Napier said the body of Gerald Welsh, 42, was found slumped over the steering wheel of his car in the family garage. Also dead was a son, Joseph. Hospitalized were Welsh's wife, Marilyn, 46, and another son, Michael, 14, Napier said.

The officer said the fumes apparently leaked from the garage through the house.

Eye reasons for Boston murders

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Why did it happen in Boston?

Two people were killed here last week. A young woman was burned to death. A retired man was robbed and stabbed to death. Police say he had been pelted with rocks. Both victims were whites killed by groups of young blacks.

"Isolated insanity," said Mayor Kevin White. "Boston is still the most walkable, livable city on a comparative basis with any city in the country."

Boston has a liberal reputation stretching from the 1830s, when it was the home of the antislavery abolitionist movement.

So why did it happen here?

Some of the answer might be found along a three-mile stretch of Columbia Road in the city's Dorchester section. It begins at Franklin Park, on the border of black Roxbury, and ends at a traffic circle near the racially troubled Columbia Point housing project and white, Irish South Boston.

'Green Book' arbiter of society

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Actually, she's shy. Parties don't interest her much. And people of position? No, she's not easily impressed.

But Carolyn Hagner Shaw can tell you exactly who rates in capital society—and who doesn't.

For 30 years now, she's kept voluminous files on the fortunes and faux pas of the powerful, honoring the select with an inch or so of space in her annual Social List, a kelly green suede-covered volume appropriately called the Green Book.

And for $22, you, too, can see who counts.

John W. Dean III, who used to counsel the President, led a contingent of former administration biggies who were scratched from the list this year

It was about 800 yards from where Columbia Road runs into Franklin Park that Evelyn Wagler, 24, died Tuesday night. Carrying gasoline to her stalled car, she was stopped by six young blacks, forced to douse herself with the gasoline and was set afire.

And it was only 600 yards from the traffic circle at the other end that Ludivico Louis Barba, 65, went fishing Thursday. Police first reported he had been stoned to death by 40 to 50 young blacks. The medical examiner reported Friday he died of stab wounds.

In between, Columbia Road runs through Dorchester, its sides flanked by "three decker" wooden houses, red brick public buildings and small stores and shops. In the middle is Uphams Corner, a commercial and shopping area.

There are sheets of plywood in the windows of the stores where Columbia Road begins at Franklin Park. A decade or two ago, it was an area where Boston's Irish Catholics coexisted with Boston's Jewish community. Now almost all the faces on the street are black. Boston was nine per cent black in 1960, 16 per cent black by 1970.

Long confined to the dilapidated South End, the black community spread through Roxbury and into the tightly knit Dorchester neighborhoods that Boston's Irish and other white ethnic groups long had called home.

There is a scattering of abandoned houses along the Franklin Park end of Columbia Road, but not the desolation of some inner city areas. If there is glass in the streets or rubbish on the sidewalks, blacks will tell you it's because their neighborhood gets the short end of city services.

Along Columbia Road cruise the blue-and-white cars of the Boston police department. There is almost certainly a white man inside. The department is 98 per cent white and the source of much bitterness among blacks who say they are denied the protection they need to live without fear of crime and violence.

Mrs. Shaw says she's not the one to black-list individuals. All final decisions on additions and deletions are left to her "board," but she won't reveal who is on the board.

During an interview in her red brick Georgetown house, Mrs. Shaw, 69, said that in past years, she was threatened with lawsuits by some who weren't included on her list. The crime? "Ruining their social standing." Others tried to bribe her by sending cases of liquor, long stemmed red roses and beautiful, expensive books.

But all were returned, Mrs. Shaw said, "even the flowers," each item accompanied by a form letter that explained "it is not the policy of the Green Book to accept gifts."

Mrs. Shaw said that there are more prominent women listed this year than last. But women present a particular problem: how to list them.

For instance, the Nixons are listed: NIXON, the President of the United States and Mrs. Richard Milhous. (Patricia Ryan.)

But presidential counselor Mrs. Tobin Armstrong is known around the capital by her first name. So she's listed: ARMSTRONG, Counselor to the President, Anne L. Her husband, Tobin, has his name in tiny black print underneath.

Mrs. Shaw said her new list includes a few Chinese and "a sprinkling of blacks."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board is expected to act next week on the state Welfare Department's request for $875,831 to implement a more efficient Medicaid program.

The Controlling Board is scheduled to meet Oct. 15.

Bates said he would buy new equipment and hire 169 more staff members to help reduce claim handling time from an average of 43 days to about 30.

Foreign students may fill extra space in U.S. colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — American colleges and universities, which undertook a construction binge in the 1960s to accommodate an expected surge of students, are finding they have thousands of empty classroom seats.

Many would like to fill the vacancies with foreign students.

Under a pilot program Georgetown University hopes to begin next year, approximately 500 German students will be placed in 25 American schools in five areas.

Thousands more could eventually be on their way, according to Georgetown's executive vice president for educational affairs, the Rev. Edmund G. Ryan, S.J.

Father Ryan says thousands of German students are being turned away from overcrowded German universities.

"The United States in the 1960s went off on a lost weekend of building," Father Ryan said. "In the 1970s we're suffering from a massive hangover."

Young Germans and others could be the antidote for the financial suffering of under-enrolled American schools, he says.

"The Germans are talking about 30,000 to 50,000 students," he said. While this would be "entirely too large" for the near future, he thinks it is reasonable as a long-range figure.

The students in the pilot program will be clustered in five areas—Washington, D.C., Michigan, Missouri, Texas and Washington state.

Father Ryan said the percentage of college-age students attending schools past high school has leveled off at about 50 per cent.

Report black colleges in financial trouble

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Christopher F. Edley, executive director of the United Negro College Fund, says black colleges still provide a major part of the black leadership training because white schools "don't know how to teach ghetto students."

But Edley said the black colleges are in financial trouble and "our backs are against the wall."

TOPS IN ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING — Ralph B. Hoffman (left) receives a certificate of registration as a professional engineer from Richard Nolan, president of the Franklin County Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at Ceremonies in Battelle Institute, Columbus. Hoffman received the top score in the electrical engineering branch of the state exam.

New professional engineer

Ralph B. Hoffman, a Washington High School graduate, has received a certificate of registration as a professional engineer from the Franklin County chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at a ceremony in Battelle Memorial Institute. The presentation was made by Richard Nolan, president of the Franklin County chapter, of which Hoffman is a member.

Hoffman, who received the highest score of all applicants in the electrical engineering branch of the state engineering examination, was graduated summa cum laude from Ohio State University in 1960 with a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering. After receiving his master's degree, he entered the Air Force as an electronics officer and subsequently was assigned to the USAF Space Systems Division in Los Angeles.

Calif. There he received the Commendation Medal for his contributions to one of the Air Force's earliest space satellite programs.

Following military service, he joined the OSU faculty where he taught electrical engineering for seven years. In 1971, he became a member of the technical staff of the Missile Systems Division of Rockwell International, Corp., of Columbus. He presently designs flight control systems for electro-optically guided tactical missiles.

He and his wife, Laura, and their two daughters, Tracy and Nancy, live at 41 Kennebec Pl., Westerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Hoffman, 609 High St., and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beard, 842 Lincoln Dr.

Forbidden poetic fruit

The strange convolutions of the censoring mind are wondrous to behold. Fresh evidence of this has emerged in Columbus, Ohio, where junior high school students found four pages excised from a book of poems they had purchased through the school. It seems that two English teachers, with the concurrence of the principal, removed certain poems because they balked at dealing with them in class. One naturally wants to know what racy stuff was thus pruned from the books. That is the cream of the jest: the four offending poems are part of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology," which has gained classic stature since its publication in 1915.

What those English teachers are up to, in short, is trying to insulate their students from poems which have been on public library shelves for half a century or more.

Snipping them from the school books will have one effect: it will precipitate a rush to the library to taste the forbidden fruit.

A piece of the action

Several years ago a friend invited me to lunch and set forth an interesting proposition. He was putting together a syndicate to build a fancy condominium on an "unspoiled island" in the Bahamas. Did I want a piece of the action?

The thought of escaping from Massachusetts to an unspoiled island in mid-winter has enormous intrinsic appeal, so I expressed interest. "How much?"

"100k," he said in the language of the trade.

"100 what?"

"Thousand."

"Are you out of your mind? You know me. I couldn't lay my hands on $100,000 if my life depended upon it."

"Oh," he said, "You're wrong! With your credit references and existing assets, you could probably get it for 8 per cent a year. You could deduct the 8k (more shorthand) interest from your taxes. Rent the place out when you weren't using it and claim depreciation. And since property values there are going up, you would probably be able to sell it at a sweet profit in a few years."

I was dazed and told him I would think about it. I did let him pay for the lunch, which came to about 5 milli-k's.

WHAT DAZED ME was not the prospect of making a killing, but rather the inherently irrational basis of the whole enterprise. I am glad to make a decent income and feel no guilt about it, because I have earned every nickel I ever spent. The idea that one could make a killing with somebody else's money struck me, doubtless naively, as almost immoral.

Partly this must be a residue of my commitment to social democracy, but the other day it suddenly occurred to me that my reaction was rooted in an even earlier set of experiences. I was buying a car and in the course of preparing the title papers the dealer inquired, "Who holds the lien?" "The what?" "You know, who's financing it? Your bank?"

I said that I was financing it and as soon as he gave me the bill, I would give him a check. He paled; indeed, I was afraid for a moment that he had been hit by a coronary.

The truth of the matter was that, as best I could discover, this was the first time in memory that a car had simply been purchased for cash. I even felt a bit guilty about it and reassured him that I was not engaging in discrimination, that the only thing we ever bought on time was our home. Otherwise cash on the counter or—to be precise — 30 day charge accounts.

Driving home I began wondering why I am such a credit freak. Of course, I am a Depression Kid, but then so was President Nixon, whose financial maneuvers in purchasing San Clemente (involving what my speculative friend would doubtless have called "mega-bucks") seem to the uninitiated to have required him to lay out more in interest payments than he earned. Apparently Depression Kids come in different categories.

THEN — just like that — I remembered a childhood scene. Literally: it was like watching a slide projected on a screen.

It must have been 1930 or 31 when they came to our apartment at 780 St. Marks Ave. in Brooklyn. I was about 7, my brother 4, and we witnessed the seizure of our Majestic radio. They had some documents, my mother started to cry, and off they went.

I thought they were thieves, but mother explained that they had taken the radio to fix it. That night, when Dad got home, I overheard the truth — we couldn't afford to keep up the payments. In 1973 I relieved the feeling of humiliation.

The consequence was that never since I set up for myself have I bought anything but a house on time payments. And every month when the bank sends the mortgage bill, I am cheered to note that another few cubic feet belong to us.

This opens up an intriguing ideological question: Does this attitude make me a conservative, a socialist, or just a patent-office eccentric?

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

The games we can't afford

The game of "Get the President" is an old one. But before the Nineteen Sixties, when so many ancient and honorable values collapsed, the game was played more or less openly.

When Teddy Roosevelt and the Progressives of 1912 found themselves dissatisfied with President William Howard Taft, they fought him in the primaries and, eventually, formed a third party of their own. As it turned out, Taft lost to Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic nominee, but it was not by conniving, obscene demonstrating or the "leaking" of unsubstantiated charges.

In 1948, various factions wanted to get rid of Harry Truman, but the fight was honorable, with his principal adversaries, Henry Wallace and Strom Thurmond, running unsuccessfully on their own tickets.

The dumping of Vice Presidents has also had a history. Franklin Roosevelt managed to rid himself of Henry Wallace in 1944, but the split between the two men had become obvious.

When Harold Stassen undertook to eliminate Vice President Nixon in 1956, there were hints that President Eisenhower was not averse to a change. But if Eisenhower had ever wanted it that way, he was quick to forget it once Nixon had demonstrated his popularity in New Hampshire.

THE EUGENE MCCARTHY crusade to supplant Lyndon Johnson in 1969 was quite in accordance with Teddy Roosevelt's 1912 effort to replace Taft. But when it became apparent that LBJ would still dominate the 1968 Democratic National Convention, Johnson's designated successor, Hubert Humphrey, found himself victimized by the carryings-on in the Chicago streets.

It was not that the Yuppies and the hippies preferred Richard Nixon. The moment that Humphrey was defeated the mob - sophisticates from the urban East joining hands with the sometimes dope-damaged young who were trying to make a sinister religion out of politics - turned its attention to "getting" Nixon.

With his imaginative foreign policy, culminating in the trips to Peking and Moscow, the older dissidents, reinforced by the campus radicals, might have toppled Nixon in 1972.

Ever since the November, 1972 verdict was in, the "Get the President" movement has bubbled and seethed with special intensity. Watergate has been a most valuable battering ram in the hands of the "Get Nixon" crowd. But if Nixon could be "got," there remained the hurdle of Vice President Spiro Agnew.

Should Nixon resign, Agnew would not only become President but President-designate in 1976. This being no improvement from their point of view, the "getters" had to "Get Agnew" too. Clark Clifford set the pitch in his New York Times Op. Ed. column suggesting a double resignation.

This column has no way of knowing who is telling the truth about the alleged kickbacks in Maryland politics when Agnew held local state office. But I can't believe that if Agnew is guilty he could be putting on such a sustained show of innocence.

People who work in his office still believe in him, and they express a rather bitter animus against White House "liberals" for spreading the rumors that the Vice President would resign if he could get a good deal from the Department of Justice. They name the accused "liberals" on an off-the-record basis.

Some Nixon appointees, if not the President himself, have been playing the "Get the Vice President" game in the best-or worst-of the new manner.

WHEN SPEAKER CARL ALBERT of the House of Representatives refused to grant Agnew the right to a House investigation, he made it plain that the Democrats were willing to abet the "Get Agnew" forces. Since the Democrats now have a big opportunity to win it all in 1976, Albert's stand is understandable if not mean.

What is not understandable is the tepid defense which Agnew gets in the White House. Nixon knows what it is to "hang there slowly twisting in the wind"; he had to overcome Eisenhower's reluctance to support him in 1952 and he had to beat back Harold Stassen's attempted putsch in 1956.

If Nixon lets Agnew be cut down before any incontestable verdict of guilt has been established, the conservatives will never forgive him. Naming John Connally to the Vice Presidency will in such an event be construed as a most shabby maneuver. I can't think of anything that would lend a swifter impetus to the Reagan and Rockefeller campaigns for the 1976 nomination.

The "Get the President" and "Get the Vice President" games should have gone out with the Sixties. We have a presidential, not a cabinet, system, and it is not going to be changed. Until such time as they have been proved guilty, both Nixon and Agnew should be allowed to function. The country can't be run on any other basis.

Curiously, Rep. Sen. Lowell Weicker of Connecticut, who seemed by his behavior as a Watergate committee member to have joined the "Get the President" clique, has regained his old reputation for fairness by saying of Agnew that "he's innocent and that's that."

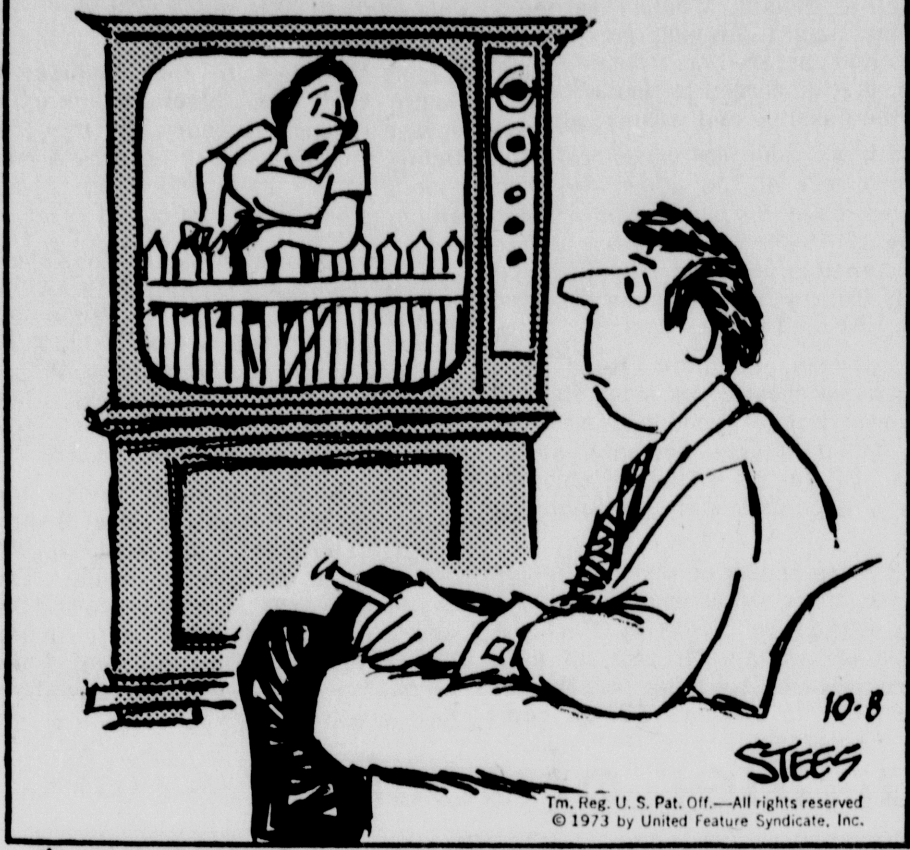

At least Weicker is not playing the game of "Get the Vice President." He knows that someone must be left in office to run the U.S.

No inflation felt yet on New Jersey turnpike

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — When the New Jersey Turnpike was opened to the public on Jan. 15, 1952, the driver of a passenger car traveling the full turnpike length of 118 miles from Deepwater to Ridgefield Park paid a toll of $1.75.

The toll today is still $1.75. That averages to 1.48 cents per mile—nest to the lowest car toll on any of the major toll roads in the nation. Cheapest is the 241-mile Ohio Turnpike, with a per-mile toll of 1.45 cents.

Artificial breast?

See your surgeon

DEAR ABBY: I am a 45-year-old married woman who fortunately survived breast cancer three years ago. My right breast was removed, and although I wear a padded bra and look normal in clothes, I haven't totally adjusted to my loss, even though my husband has been very kind and understanding.

I suppose I will sound vain and silly (that's why I haven't spoken to my doctor about this) but I would like to know if it is possible for a plastic surgeon to reconstruct an artificial breast and successfully make it part of me?

MRS. J.
DEAR MRS. J.: I have discussed your problem with my plastic surgery adviser, Dr. Eugene Worton who advises me that every case must be evaluated individually. Whether it would depend upon the type of surgery you had (the size and location of the removed tumor.) He suggests you contact a qualified plastic and reconstructive surgeon, and discuss it with him.

DEAR ABBY: How does a woman let her friends know she is available? I am being divorced, and a woman my age can't afford to waste much time, so I'd like to have it known that I am in the market for a new husband.

What do you think of having some cards printed saying: "I AM AVAILABLE!" and without going into detail I could add: "My divorce was final March 10th" and then something cute, like: "The line forms on the left." Then my new phone number.

I suppose this would seem rather forward a few years ago, but Abby, times have changed. What do you think?

AVAILABLE
DEAR AVAILABLE: Times may have changed, but men haven't. When they play for keeps they avoid aggressive women. I recommend a more subtle way to get the word of your availability around.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CAN'T BELIEVE IT IN TEXAS: I couldn't believe it either, so I wrote to the State Bar of Texas and inquired. The reply: "Dear Abby: You wrote that a woman had written to you saying that an unmarried woman cannot own property in Texas and wanted to know if this is true.

In the words of my patient and long-suffering secretary:

"An unmarried woman CAN own property in Texas and the more, the better!"

Cordially Yours,

Western College merger fought

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Some 350 students at Western College hope to save their school by raising $5 million in a massive play for publicity—including purchasing New York State Lottery tickets.

The campaign formed Thursday when the students held a mass meeting and asked President William Spencer why their 121-year old private school is about to be merged with Miami University, a state school.

As the first step, said Susan McBridge, a senior from Pittsburgh, the students raised $375 to buy the lottery tickets. An unidentified faculty member agreed to buy the tickets in New York City today while he was there for a business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Dustin Gorton of 415 Gregg St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Poppy Laurie, to Victor D. Pontious Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor D. Pontious, of Amanda.

Miss Gorton was a March graduate of Ohio State University and a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary society.

Mr. Pontious graduated in 1971 from Miami University, Oxford, and is presently teaching speech and world history at Washington Senior High School.

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 17 in the Amanda Presbyterian Church in Amanda.

Lay missionary to speak to Baptist society

Mrs. Sylvia McCoy, who spent 12 days as lay missionary of the Baptist Church in Haiti last January with her husband, Eugene, will describe the work of the church there, the people and their way of life at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society.

The meeting will be held in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church, although the sanctuary portion of the building is being torn down to be replaced by a new and larger one.

Mrs. McCoy, the daughter and granddaughter of Baptist ministers, and her husband, a mechanical engineer, went to Haiti with the Ohio "Haiti Singing Task Force." While he laid blocks for a new residence for the agricultural school, she worked with the students at the College Pratique du Nord in Capp-Haitien. Both are members of the First Baptist Church in Mount Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy have spoken and shown their slides 25 times at church and club meetings since their return. Mrs. McCoy told Mrs. Albert Caplinger, chairman of the society here. ## THE BETTER HALF

By Barnes

"Just because you passed your physical doesn't mean there's nothing wrong with you."

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DARKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

If you expect too much, day may prove disappointing. Keeping objectives within reasonable bounds, however — and working toward them only — is your winning ticket.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Curb tendencies toward lethargy. Sidestepping obligations and trying to bluff your way through could have unfortunate results.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Opposition to your ideas could cause some indecisiveness but, if you're sure you're on the right track, go ahead as planned.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Straying off the beaten path not advisable. You'll find more opportunities, greater satisfaction in activities close to home.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A creative idea could prove more remunerative than you suppose. Fine gains indicated if you play your cards right.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Indications are that a bit of luck is coming your way. Take a chance — especially in an activity that particularly interest you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

This looks like one of your better days. You should be the center of attraction in whatever circle you find yourself — business or pleasure.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

It will pay you to look below the surface now. New trends may result in an agreement where there was only opposition before.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Jupiter influences not too friendly. Avoid getting in over your head — especially where you happen to be on unfamiliar ground.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A favorable day for negotiations, working toward contract settlements. Parties of the second part now appreciate what you have to offer.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

The Piscean tendency to seek the unusual and offbeat will be much in evidence now. You'll find much pleasure in areas others overlook.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with terrific enthusiasm, effectual power, fine mental processes, foresight and, in certain situations, that "sixth sense" which tells you when to move and when to stay put. The extremely versatile Libran is usually successful beyond his own dreams. A lover of music and acting, he could succeed at either. With the poise and balance bestowed upon him by his symbol, the scales, he would make an outstanding lawyer, judge or statesman. His inventiveness can take him far in engineering, architecture or designing. Traits to curb: Bossiness and a tendency toward carelessness when uninterested in a project.

Low-cost divorces available

DETROIT (AP) — A man whose wife left him in 1933 was among the first persons to take advantage of the new low-cost, no-fault divorce service now available in Detroit.

John Lama, executive director of the Detroit Bar Association, said another man and his wife, separated 22 years, read about the divorce service, got in touch with each other and decided, "Let's get divorced."

Lama said under the new plan, persons who qualify pay less than $200 for divorce services which previously cost about $400.

The low-cost, no-fault divorce program is the first of its kind in the country, according to Anthony Buesser, DBA bench and bar committee chairman.

It involves about 700 lawyers in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties and was instituted at the urging of Wayne County Circuit Court judges.

To be eligible for the divorce service, couples must be childless; own no property other than furniture, cars and personal belongings and agree as to how to divide it, seek no alimony and have a combined annual income of less than $8,500.

Consent of both the husband and wife or a long absence by either one also is required.

Big Ben, the great bell in the clock tower of the British Houses of Parliament, was named for Benjamin Bell, commissioner of works in 1856, when the bell was installed.

Trash-burning Collector show turnout heavy ends in hassle

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to a call Saturday evening, only to find that it was a case of illegal trash burning.

Firemen found a 55-gallon drum of trash and a discarded sofa burning at a home on Flint Drive.

The firemen informed the residents that open burning is illegal and asked that they extinguish the blaze.

When the resident of the house refused to put the fire out, the Police Department was summoned. The householder still refused, and the Fire Department doused the trash amid the jeers and heckling of onlookers.

The entire on-duty force of firemen and two trucks were tied up at the scene for more than half an hour in all. No charges have been filed.

Shield law given

push in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — While Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's lawyers try to force newsmen to reveal sources for stories about Agnew's legal problems, interest has been rekindled in legislation that could block such action.

Congress was invited by the Supreme Court to provide legal protection for newsmen after the court held in a 5-4 decision in June 1972 that newsmen had no constitutional right to refuse to disclose sources.

Since then bills to protect sources have been lying idle in both House and Senate committees.

However, action to revive them is expected following orders to eight newsmen to bring their notes and any other records that would disclose their sources to the federal courthouse in Baltimore Thursday. The newsmen are expected to resist the order. The newsmen all wrote about the grand jury investigation of Agnew.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., prompted by the prospect of a major legal battle, called Saturday for prompt legislative action.

To the surprise of no one, the Fairground was packed with exhibitors, flea marketeers and onlookers Saturday and Sunday for the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association monthly show.

But to the surprise of nearly everyone, the competition for powder horns brought out nine unusually fine old relics of American colonial and pioneer days.

Kenneth Craig, association president, said he had expected a "pretty good show," but nothing like the one the competition brought out.

The most outstanding powder horn, he said, was "certainly worthy of a place in the Smithsonian Institution;" its history could be traced, he said, with the carvings on it. These included important dates and battles in which it had been used and a little verse: "Friends, receive and take a sup, you'll find it very handy, it's sure to keep your spirits up when filled with rum or brandy." The verse was evidence of its double use.

Constitution, long known as "Old Ironsides," the Java was so badly battered that it was abandoned by the British.

Before sinking the Java, the American sailors plundered it. One of the sailors got the ornately carved powder horn and kept it. How the powder horn finally got to its present owner was not explained.

Craig said there were more than 800 exhibitors at the show including hobbyists and flea marketeers and that more than 2,700 cars carrying the curious and flea market buyers paid the customary 25-cents fee at the gates. If each car had an average of four passengers well over 10,000 men, women and children swarmed over the Fairground. Rain and threat of rain probably cut the crowd somewhat, Craig said.

Financial statements under fire

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The accounting profession has just released a report that in effect urges its members to produce financial statements that emphasize accuracy, reality, clarity, simplicity—that communicate rather than confuse.

The figure that counts most in a corporate financial statement, a nine-man study group indicated, is "cash in hand," real cash that is, in contrast to those profits that sometimes are produced on paper but cannot be demonstrated physically.

The thrust of this accounting report appears to be that financial statements should inform individual investors and other unsophisticated readers rather than just offer argot to the professionals.

That these goals, among many set down, should have to be spelled out seems extraordinary, and it is. But that's because many financial reports are extraordinary too.

Most extraordinary, in the view of those who have had to study these statements, is that they sometimes fail to communicate, which is the primary purpose of all words and numbers, even in a financial statement.

This might have been more calmly tolerated in the past, when the relatively few Americans with money to invest seemed satisfied to remain in a state of ignorance, relying on the wisdom of their broker or trust company.

But now this nation has many millions of shareholders. And while most of them still won't attempt to read a financial statement or an annual report, they aren't as willing to tolerate the condition. They want information.

In the absence of that information the stock market has suffered. Many individual investors were scarred by their own and their brokers' ignorance during the late 1960s, and they won't let it happen again.

The common reaction of such people has been to withdraw from the market and let the professionals play with each other's money. And so, after rising for two decades to more than 30 million, the shareholder population declined this year.

Unsophisticated investors won't buy if they read a report and conclude that, while all the figures seem to be in order, the overall picture is incorrect.

Has this been the case? Have they been deluded? You judge.

—The nation's largest railroad, the Penn Central, was just days away from collapse before some of its own directors and executives became fully aware of this alarming situation.

—Mutual fund managers bought stacks of letter stock, shares which could not readily be traded except to sophisticated investors, and then assigned to them a market price when no market existed.

—Land sales companies reported healthy profits because they included the full selling price in their statements even though they received only a small down payment, with no proof positive that the rest would be forthcoming.

McArthur meeting scheduled over walkout by teachers

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — The Parents Committee of the Vinton County School District has called a meeting Tuesday to discuss ways to combat the current school crisis.

Committee spokesman Keith Waters said the group has held several community-level sessions, but decided to try a meeting of parents from throughout the district after School Supt. Kenneth Christopher changed his mind about closing school.

"We've invited both teachers and the school board in hopes of ending the strike," Waters said.

Meanwhile, teachers in the LaBrea school district in Trumbull County called a strike Sunday night after negotiations with the school board broke down.

The teachers have been working without a contract since school began last month.

Teachers president Patrick Gaia said pickets would begin marching today if no agreement is worked out.

Gaia said there has been little progress in contract talks since last February. The major issues are salaries and sick leave, he said.

School Supt. Harold Everling said he would try to keep the schools open despite the picketing.

The district's non-certified workers voted Saturday to observe the teachers' picket line, even though the non-professional staff has a contract with the school board.

Eighty-seven Vinton County teachers walked off the job last month after negotiations broke down over dismissal policy and grievance procedures.

Strip mine bill praised, rapped

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginians concerned with the strip mine industry have both praise and criticism for a provision of the proposed federal law that would require stripped land to be returned to approximately its original contour.

The Senate is expected to vote shortly on the strip mine bill, which is sponsored by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and is modeled along the lines of Pennsylvania's state law. That statute requires returning the land to the approximate original contour and does not allow highwalls.

Ben Lusk, executive director of the West Virginia Surface Mine Association, maintains that it is "not a good thing environmentally" to return the land to the original contour because of the dangers of siltation.

State politicians flock to hustings

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Watergate and other highly publicized political scrapes apparently are doing little to discourage Ohio's politicians. At least evidence is scarce.

With the exception of U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, who talks about retirement, the field looms large for the more than 500 state, congressional, and local district offices up for grabs in 1974.

Some candidates are off and running early, despite the distant Feb. 6 filing deadline for most races. All but candidates for the state Board of Education must file by 4 p.m. that day. Board candidates need not file until Aug. 7.

Besides Saxbe's Senate seat, all of the state's 23 congressmen will be up for re-election. There also are contests for governor, lieutenant governor, chief justice, two associate Supreme Court justices, attorney general, auditor, secretary of state, and treasurer.

Seven members will be elected to full, six-year terms on the 23-member school board—in the 2nd, 3rd, 6th, 8th, 18th, 20th, and 23rd congressional districts. The incumbents drew short terms by lot two years ago when the board reorganized and switched to six-year, staggered terms.

All 99 seats in the Ohio House are at stake, along with 17 in the 33-member Senate. Those representing odd-numbered Senate districts are to be filled for four-year terms. Half the Senate runs every two years.

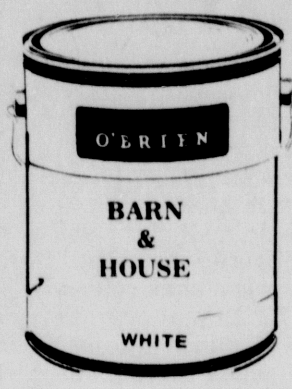

Otherwise, one judge will be elected in each of the state's appellate court districts, and some counties have contests for seats on common pleas and county court benches.

Each of the 88 counties will elect a commissioner under a system that has one seek a four-year term in one even-numbered year and the other two the next. County auditors also are to be elected, along with state central committee members of each party in each county.

A couple of formal announcements for state-wide office have been made. One came from former GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes after he had cleared up his legal eligibility to run again.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and the other Democratic incumbents will run again, with the possible exception of Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson who is 81.

Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is expected to seek re-election to the office he has held for more than 20 years.

Disease-raked fabrics plant faces new worker walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Health Director Dr. John Cashman says he expects to have recommendations this week on action to be taken at the disease-plagued Columbus Coated Fabrics plant.

Cashman said Sunday he was reviewing the situation and planned to make a statement.

"I expect I will have some recommendations," he said. But he would not elaborate.

Meanwhile, a union official said employees have been urged not to report to work until company officials take steps to insure safety.

Probe fatal auto crash

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol is continuing its investigation of a fatal car smashup which occurred while a 17-year-old driver was fleeing police.

Lewis R. Diplacido of Conneaut was killed and four teenage passengers were injured when the car slammed into a tree just west of Conneaut Saturday night. The four were hospitalized for observation.

The patrol said pills found in the car by patrolmen were being tested to see if drugs were involved.

The patrol report quoted police as saying they chased the car for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 35 m.p.h. zone. One-tenth mile outside the city, the report said, the car went out of control, hit a tree and overturned.

The patrol routinely investigates such accidents when a police vehicle is involved, a patrol official said.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Gleason, a CBS-TV star for the last 15 years, is coming out of untanned semi-seclusion Thursday to star in his first comedy-variety show for the network since February 1970.

Why the 3½-year layoff? "I just didn't feel like going to work," the Great One explained. He spoke from Miami Beach on a phone connection that sounded as if it were relayed via Katmandu.

Thursday's show may be his final comedy effort for CBS. Gleason, who moved to Florida nine years ago, recently moved his allegiance to NBC-TV, which said he had signed a "long-term" contract with it.

The 57-year-old comedian was a bit more specific about the pact. He said it runs for two years, with options for more.

He also said his CBS contract doesn't expire until September next year. It commits him to doing one more CBS show, probably a dramatic effort, if his sponsor General Electric asks for it.

But whatever happens, Gleason said, he'll start work on his first NBC show in January. What prompted him to sign with NBC, besides money?

"Well, I think that was it," he laughed. "More money. I thought it best to go with NBC. They got a better setup."

Transmittal of animal cell viruses seen in cancer probe

NEW YORK (AP) — Animal cells commonly used in laboratory research can spontaneously produce viruses similar to those that cause cancer, scientists at the National Cancer Institute said today.

They said these viruses possibly could be transmissible to humans, perhaps constituting a "significant biohazard" to laboratory workers handling cell cultures.

The discovery tends to support the theory that all mammalian cells contain their own viruses, that viruses or the ability to produce them are part of the genetic inheritance. The question to be answered is how these viruses are turned on and off.

The report of the spontaneous production of viruses appears in today's issue of Science, a journal published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Four cancer institute scientists said in the report that their research indicated that "many commonly used mammalian cell cultures from various species" produced viruses similar to those known to cause leukemia and sarcoma.

Leukemia is a cancer of the blood, and sarcoma is an often highly malignant tumor of soft tissue.

"An important consideration, then, is the safety of laboratory workers who commonly handle mammalian cell lines without specific precautions for the handling, storage and disposal of potentially pathogenic viruses," the scientists said.

The discovery also raises the question of how the spontaneous production of viruses might affect the validity and results of experiments.

Mets even series with 5-0 victory

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rolled to 17 more regular-season victories than the New York Mets, but their National League playoff season was tied at one win apiece as it switched to Shea Stadium here today.

The Mets, who underwhelmed the East Division with an 82-79 record, squared the best-of-five series Sunday at Cincinnati with a 5-0 triumph. The remaining games will be played here.

Best ball tournament attracts 61 golfers

The quartet of Robert Herron, John Arbogast, Ralph Cook and David Boswell won the four-man team best ball with handicap tournament Sunday at the Washington Country Club.

The winning team fired a 21-under-par score of 123 to top the 61 golfers entered.

Herron was the big gun as he had his best-ever score of 35-38-73 in the 18-hole tourney. Herron carries a nine-stroke handicap. Arbogast shot a 92, Cook had a 95 and Boswell finished with an 89.

Club pro Tony Capuana said hidden teams were selected after the golfers had started the best ball event. Herron led his hidden team to a victory with a best ball score of 120. Others on the team were Osborne, S.E. Vaughn and Howard Burnett.

Syndicates were had by the teams of Herron (two), James Vess, Birch Rice, William Mount and Tom Brude.

THE RESULTS

Robert Herron, Ralph Cook, John Arbogast and David Boswell, 123.

Roger Grimm, Roger Osborne, S.E. Vaughn and Ray French 124.

Ed Vollette, Carl Elberfeld, Gordon McCarty and Sam Parrett 125.

MT's ground attack clouts Indians 36-0

The Miami Trace reserve football team put together a crunching offensive attack and a stubborn defensive effort to blank the Hillsboro reserves Saturday at Miami Trace Field 36-0.

Hillsboro started off the game with the ball, but failed to pick up a first down and turned the ball over to Miami Trace on the 40-yard line.

Miami Trace promptly marched 60 yards for score with quarterback Bruce Ervin stepping over the goal line from two yards out. Ervin then passed to Tony Carter for the extras and Miami Trace led 8-0.

Schlichter earns berth in district PP&K competition

Art Schlichter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schlichter, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, won the 13-year-old division of the Punt, Pass and Kick zone contest at Gardner Park Stadium Saturday.

The 13-year-old Schlichter will advance to district PP&K competition at Cincinnati-Princeton High School this Saturday.

Schlichter had a 395 score in the zone contest here. Thirteen area cities were represented and a total of 78 boys competed, according to David Ogan, of Carroll Halliday's Ford Dealership.

At the district level, Schlichter will be competing against 13-year-olds from parts of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana.

Buckeyes shred Cougars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On a weekend when numerous running backs galloped like Secretariat across the gridiron, the biggest run of all was stopped short...after starting out as a pass.

In a battle of unbeaten college football teams, Tennessee was shredded for 394 yards through the air by David Jaynes of Kansas, but forced the Jayhawk quarterback to keep the ball himself when he tried to find a receiver for a two-point conversion pass with 3:15 left. Jaynes was stopped short of the goal line, enabling the ninth-ranked Vols to hold on for a 28-27 victory.

Jaynes completed 35 of 58 passes—school records—for three scores and his yardage total was seven short of his own KU mark.

The other members of The Associated Press Top Ten had it easier than Tennessee...but some didn't have it easy.

Top-ranked Ohio State trimmed Washington State 27-3 as Archie Griffin and new fullback Bruce Elia split four touchdowns while slick quarterback Cornelius Greene ran and passed the Cougars dizzy.

not for long, as the Panther defense caused a fumble on Hillsboro's 35-yard line. Miami Trace wasted no time again as Ervin put the finishing touches on a fine drive scoring from the two-yard line. The extras were again made by a pass from Ervin to Carter and the Panthers led 16-0.

THEN, with just four minutes left in the half, Ervin connected with Carter for a 65-yard touchdown pass. The extras failed and Miami Trace led at halftime 22-0.

Hillsboro still blanked in the contest was trying to play catch up football and tossed an interception to Steve Waters in the third quarter. Kent Smith carried the ball over from the four-yard line, the extras failed and Miami Trace held a 28-0 lead.

Again Hillsboro failed to mount any kind of a threat and turned the ball over to the Panthers with just over two minutes left in the game.

Roger Baker carried the ball seven straight times to move the ball down to the Hillsboro nine-yard line. With only nine seconds left, Ervin passed to Jeff Ruth for a touchdown and Baker ran for the extras with no time left on the clock, as Miami Trace evened its record at 1-1.

Coach Dave Pellior reported that the defense, led by Waters, Kurt Klontz, Dan LeBeau and Dean Shonkwiler played an excellent game by allowing Hillsboro only 60-yards rushing. Pellior also stated that the offensive line headed by Jim Pendergraft, Jack James and Tom Eddleman played an important role in the 220 yards Miami Trace picked up rushing.

Miami Trace's next reserve game will be at 10 a.m. next Saturday at Circleville.

won the World Series in 1969, fired a masterful two-hitter in the Mets' win Sunday.

The day before Mets hurler Tom Seaver set a NL playoff record with 13 strikeouts but still lost on a ninth-inning homer by Johnny Bench.

"Matlack pitched a better game than Seaver did," acknowledged Pete Rose, the sparkplug of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine.

Today the Reds send Ross Grimsley, 13-10, against another Mets lefty, Jerry Koosman, 14-15.

"I sat here yesterday and said I don't expect Matlack to pitch as well as Seaver," Rose declared from his locker stool.

"Now doggone," he said with a grimace. "I sure don't expect Koosman to throw as good as Matlack."

With the exception of Sunday's ninth inning when the Mets scored four runs on a walk and five singles, Reds' pitching has also been outstanding.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead Sunday when Rusty Staub belted a solo homer to right in the fourth inning off losing pitcher Don Gullett.

It was the only run off Gullett, who worked five innings and allowed two hits before bowing to a pinch hitter in the fifth.

The Mets' four-run burst in the last inning came off relievers Tom Hall and Pedro Borbon. Jerry Grote's bases-loaded single drove in two of the runs.

Meanwhile, Matlack allowed only two Reds to reach second base the entire game, and he notched nine strikeouts and just three walks.

whipped Florida 24-3.

Besides Miami, three other members of The Second Ten also lost. Oklahoma State, ranked 11th, fumbled two punts and Texas Tech turned both into touchdowns en route to a 20-7 upset. John Moseley's 74-yard punt return iced No. 15 Missouri's 17-7 triumph over No. 19 Southern Methodist. Indiana knocked off No. 20 West Virginia 28-14 as Willie Jones completed 13 of 19 passes for 120 yards and ran for 51 more, including a third-period touchdown.

Elsewhere, Danny White's three scoring passes and the running of Woody Green and Ben Malone fired No. 12 Arizona State over New Mexico 67-24. No. 13 Texas used Jay Arnold's 58-yard interception return and scoring runs by Joe Aboussie, Marty Akins, Lonnie Bennett, Coy Featherston and Pat Kennedy to wallop Wake Forest 41-0.

Leonard Parker ran for 152 yards and both touchdowns as No. 14 Houston shaded San Diego State 14-9. Quarterbacks John Sciarra and Mark Harmon and runners Kermit Johnson and James McAlister powered No. 16 UCLA to a 66-16 rout of Utah.

Colorado, ranked 18th, scored on its first two possessions and beat Iowa State 23-16 despite a 198-yard show by tailback Mike Strachan of the losers.

THORNBADH ADVANCES — Michigan back Bob Thornbladh (30) is tackled by Oregon's Steve Donnelly as he takes a kickoff to the 33-yard line in a game at Ann Arbor. Michigan players George Przygodski (80) and Paul Seal (83) are in on the play. Michigan won 24-0.

A's square playoff

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, having proved the Baltimore Orioles aren't invincible in American League playoff competition, return home today with confidence they can win the current best-of-five series.

"I think we have the advantage now," Oakland manager Dick Williams said after a home run barrage gave the A's a 6-3 victory Sunday and evened the series at one game apiece. "We're in pretty good shape."

"We're going back to our own park, and we have two 20-game winners to throw at them."

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles, having suffered his first playoff defeat after 10 consecutive victories, found it hard to fathom that being 1-1 was a disadvantage.

"Unless the second game means more than the first one," he said,

"we're still even. We have to win two out of three now, and so do they."

Weaver, who didn't even have to use one of his four 20-game winners while beating the A's in the 1971 playoffs, can't match Oakland in that regard for the next two games, at least.

Left-hander Ken Holtzman was to start for Oakland in today's game, 3:30 p.m. EDT, against Baltimore lefty Mike Cuellar, an 18-game winner during the regular season.

Lefty Vida Blue, who was knocked from the mound in the first inning of Saturday's opener, has been named by Williams to start game No. 4.

Weaver said he would stick with his original plans to pitch young Doyle Alexander in the fourth game. While Alexander won just 12 during the regular season, one of those was a one-run, complete game victory over the A's.

The Orioles out-homered the A's 18-16 during regular season series, won by Oakland 7-5, but five of those hit by the A's came off Dave McNally, who was rapped for four more on Sunday.

Third baseman Sal Bando slammed two drives into the left field bleachers, after being robbed on his previous at bat when Al Bumbry reached high above the fence to pull down an apparent homer.

Solo homers also were hit by Bert Campaneris and Joe Rudi, as the A's scored all but one of their runs on round-trippers.

Campaneris, who rammed into center fielder Angel Mangual for a miscue which could have proved costly, also had two singles, two stolen bases, batted in two runs and scored twice.

Cleveland offense jells in 17-10 win over Cincy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich stopped complaining about his offense Sunday. "It was the best performance this year by the offensive line," Skorich said after the Browns galloped past the Cincinnati Bengals 17-10 in a National Football League game.

"Ken Brown did some great running," Skorich continued. "He broke some tackles and used his blocking well. Leroy Kelly's running was also very good."

Kelly and Brown combined for 166

yards on 47 carries and Kelly scored twice on runs of three and seven yards.

"I think we're ready to show we have an offensive team now and put it all together against Miami," said Kelly, who injured his thigh in the final period.

"I don't think it (the injury) will keep me out," Kelly added.

Brown said that he and Kelly were "running a lot of finesse plays."

"He was blocking for me and I was blocking for him," Brown said. "The entire offensive line was really firing off. We had big holes on either side and up the middle."

Skorich said the game plan was to stay on the ground "because of the pass protection trouble we've had."

Quarterback Mike Phipps did his share of running also and gained 52 yards in four carries.

"It worries me to see Phipps run," Skorich said. "It's nice to see him get up and go back to the huddle."

The Bengals fumbled twice in the American Conference Central Division contest and both times cornerback Ben Davis recovered for the Browns and Cleveland went on to score.

Bengals coach Paul Brown admitted that the better team won.

"They (Cleveland) deserved to win," Brown said. "We didn't play well."

Bengals center Bob Johnson said "if you want to know what made the difference in this game is was their (Cleveland's) offense."

"They made zero mistakes when they had the ball," Johnson added. "We had to try and stop them. They never stopped themselves."

The Bengals led through the first quarter on a Horst Muhlmann field goal but the Browns started the second half with a 7-3 edge and never lost it.

Lion reserves even record in 36-0 win

The Washington C.H. reserve football team evened its record to 1-1 Saturday by blanking Greenfield 36-0 at Gardner Park.

The Lion Jayvees opened the scoring in the first quarter when Joe Cox returned a Greenfield punt 65 yards for a touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

In the second quarter, Greenfield again failed to penetrate the Washington C.H. goal line and was forced to turn the ball over. The Lions marched down the field and David Payton carried the ball across for the score from the three-yard line. Quarterback Randy Gardner passed to David Stackhouse for the extras and the Lions held a 14-0 lead at halftime.

Coach Jon Creamer reported that the Lions' defense was outstanding, with Greg Marti playing a fine game on the line. Coach Creamer was also pleased with the performance of quarterback Gardner, who ran the ball well on several sweeps around the end.

The Lion reserves are now 1-1 for the season and will travel to Wilmington next Saturday.

Jaycees grab lead in Pony grid loop

The Jaycees emerged as the leader in the Washington C.H. Pony Football League following Saturday night's action at Gardner Park Stadium.

Coach Wes Wilson's Jaycees posted their second straight win by beating the defending champion Interns 16-0 in the nightcap. Domenico's Dividends tightened the standings by handing Frisch's Big Boys a 28-0 setback. The loss was the first of the season for the Big Boys.

THE JAYCEES, now 2-0 on the season, got a pair of long scoring runs from two players to handle the Interns. Bill Horney scampered 70 yards for a touchdown and then added the extras while Robbie James turned in a 54-yard touchdown run. Horney ran for the extras following James' touchdown.

Eddie Forsythe and Dean Short scored two touchdowns apiece in leading the Dividends to their first win in two outings. Forsythe scored both of the touchdowns on quarterback sneaks, while Short scored on a pair of short runs.

Forsythe passed to Tom Shields for two sets of extra points in the game.

In next Saturday night's games at Gardner Park Stadium, the Jaycees will meet the Big Boys in the 6 p.m. opener and the Dividends will clash with the Marksmen in the nightcap. The Interns will have the bye.

Newspapers act to live with newsprint shortages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The newsprint shortage has forced the nation's newspapers to experiment with the kind and amount of news they offer. Some editors see unexpected benefits in the cutbacks they have had to make.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association mailed questionnaires on the newsprint shortage and its effects to its members.

The APME survey showed that 295 of the 470 newspapers which replied had cut some news from the paper. Others cut advertising or reduced circulation.

Almost 100 of the papers reported that there was a good side to the shortage. Fifty-two of the newspapers said they would not reinstate all of the material they cut because they discovered some was outmoded or unneeded. Thirty-three papers said the newsprint shortage caused tighter writing and editing and six papers said they received valuable response from readers as a result of the crunch.

"We realized that many 'sacred cows' were not so revered when their excommunication provoked little, if any, adverse reaction," said a spokesman for the Herald Dispatch of Huntington, W.Va.

The Review Times of Fostoria, Ohio, said it was using the shortage "as an excuse to make a number of changes we've been unable to make before." The Asbury Park, N.J., Press said the tight paper situation was "a great excuse to cut out traditional nonnews."

The Union, in Grass Valley, Calif., said it "cleaned up typography — eliminated space waste."

The newspapers also said they learned more about what people want to read.

"We learned that bridge column fans are fanatics," said the Minneapolis Star.

"We've found what we can drop and what we can't," agreed the Herald-Telephone of Bloomington, Ind. "Dropped half (the) comics one day and were deluged with protest. Response to other deletions hasn't been comparable."

Some papers said they had made plans in case the shortage — caused by strikes at mills and railroads in Canada — gets worse.

DeWitt H. Scott, executive editor of The Express of Easton, Pa., said he had a detailed plan of action in case further cutbacks are necessary.

"I think newspapers should have such battle plans ready just as they do for a racial riot, a blizzard, flood or other emergency," Scott said. "Above all, I think we should be forthright with our readers, telling them in front-page stories what we are doing and why. Part of our ... planning, for instance, involves asking the readers to advise us on what they consider most expendable."

The Clearwater, Fla., Sun, however, said "Reader response is a bad guide for eliminating most types of material. Perhaps we have benefitted from a more intense self-examination."

Most papers said the readers really didn't react to cutbacks. Only 39 editors reported overwhelmingly negative reaction from readers; many others said the readers weren't happy, but accepted the situation with understanding.

Deletion of things like the crossword puzzle, the comics, the horoscope and the bridge column drew the most protests, editors said.

The Minneapolis Tribune said it got 109 calls the first day after it dropped the crossword puzzle. It was restored.

The Morning Record of Meriden, Conn., reinstated the horoscope after protests from readers.

The type and size of cutbacks varied with the size and location of the newspaper.

One of the survey questions asked newspapers which they would cut first: international news, national news, features and women's news, sports or local news. Of the 295 papers which responded that they had cut some news, 140 said they cut international news first, 35 said national news, 67 reported features and women's news, 14 said sports and 11 said local news. The remainder cut stock lists or TV schedules or other tabular material.

Another question asked the papers to specify the categories which they had cut.

Two-hundred twenty-one papers said they cut at least some syndicated feature material — things like opinion columns. The cuts ranged from an average of three columns of space a day in the smaller papers to an average of nearly five columns of space in papers with circulations from 75,000 to 200,000.

In other findings: —212 papers said they cut some wire service features.

—174 papers reported cutting some hard news from news services about the day's events.

—136 papers cut back the comics.

Some newspapers — 199 of the 470 included in the total — said the paper shortage caused them to change their basic design.

Eight papers cut the size of photos; 44 reduced the size of headlines; 28 cut back on the amount of blank space around news or advertising; 11 made type smaller, and 10 made major changes in their editorial pages to include advertising or general news.

The survey found 201 newspapers using AP news summaries some or all of the time. The summaries, condensations of world, national and Washington news, were inaugurated by AP to help newspapers conserve space during the newsprint pinch.

Only 47 per cent of the newspapers with a circulation of over 200,000 said they cut the amount of news in the paper as a result of the shortage. Sixty per cent of the papers with a circulation under 25,000 cut news; 70 per cent with a circulation between 25,000 and 75,000 reduced the news, and 73 per cent of the 75,000 to 100,000 group made news cutbacks.

The cuts varied in size. In the under-25,000 circulation bracket, the typical reduction was 40 columns a day or 60 per cent of the size of the paper. In the over-200,000 category, the most common cutback was also 40 columns, but it comprised only 20 per cent of the space normally devoted to news.

Fewer than 9 per cent of the papers responding to the survey cut advertising, and ad reduction was more common in larger papers.

Just came for dinner and didn't stay long

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — A burglar entered a Hobbs residence, ate some food and left, apparently without taking anything.

Tomie E. Brag told police he and his wife had left their residence one evening. When they returned they found a third place setting at the dinner table. They then discovered someone had cooked two pork chops, and eaten a pan of cabbage Mrs. Brag had fixed.

Brag said a skillet was still hot, apparently from cooking the pork chops.

♣ 10 6 4 2

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	4 ♣

Opening lead - seven of diamonds.

This deal occurred in the Netherlands-Italy match in the 1966 world championship.

With Garozzo North and Forquet South for Italy, the bidding went as shown. The Italians were playing the Neopolitan Club system and, in accordance with it, Garozzo bid a club, indicating 17 or more points.

Two clubs by Forquet was also an artificial bid. It showed two aces and a king, and had nothing whatever to do with clubs as a suit.

From then on, the bidding was natural. Garozzo showed his diamonds and Forquet jumped to three spades, indicating a long and strong spade suit. Garozzo raised to four and Forquet passed, realizing that partner could not have the ace of clubs - he would have bid four clubs in that case - and that North's clubs might indeed be of poor quality.

West led his singleton diamond and Forquet made eleven tricks to score a seemingly normal 650 points.

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 NT	Pass	6 ♣

West led the jack of hearts and Blitzblum had no trouble taking 13 tricks. Three clubs was probably meant to inhibit West from leading that suit - through in the actual hand West would hardly have led a club even if the suit had not been bid.

Strangely enough, had West led a diamond he would have stopped the slam, but in fact West chose the far from abnormal heart lead. So Holland gained 810 points on the deal, and in that way punished Garozzo and Forquet for being too scientific!

Treating a Pilonidal Cyst

I am 38 years old. I suddenly developed a painful cyst at the base of my spine.

I have been told I have a pilonidal cyst and that it has been present all my life.

How could this be that it never bothered me?

Mr. H.J., Ohio

A pilonidal cyst is actually a birth defect. Some improper fusion is responsible for this unusual condition.

The cyst, located at the lowest part of the spine, rarely causes trouble during childhood and adolescence. It appears most frequently in adulthood.

The cyst, which has been lying dormant, may be activated by injury or infection, and then becomes painful.

Pilonidal cysts are rarely brought to the attention of the doctor before they are infected and troublesome. The cyst is then opened and the pus and other material evacuated. However, there is a tendency for these infections to recur unless the cyst is removed completely by surgery.

Surgery was once a very complicated procedure, and healing took many weeks. Today, the operation is performed in a simple manner. After the cyst is removed, the wound is completely closed and healing is more rapid.

The operation is a safe one. There is great value in having it performed before the cyst and the surrounding tissue have been devitalized by infection.

From the time my daughter was 8 years old she had periods during which she constantly pulled her hair out of her scalp. Sometimes areas the size of a quarter or more would be bald.

She stopped for a while. Now, at the age of 12, she is doing it again.

There is no way that I can control it by reprimanding her. I know of no one who has ever had this experience with a child.

Mrs. H.J., Ga.

Dear Mrs. J.:

The compulsive drive for a child to pull out hair has for years been recognized as a sign of psychological disturbance. The condition is known as "Trichotillomania." It exists in children who often have many other evidences of psychological stress.

At the time you first noticed this habit, it would have been better if psychological tests had been done. There might have been some indication of the emotional problems that stimulated the habit.

For some unexplained reason, the compulsive hair-pulling stopped for a few years, and now has returned.

Since it is recognized that psychological disturbances are related to this condition, it is important that you concentrate on this aspect of the problem rather than on the hair-pulling itself.

Punishment or nagging is the wrong approach. It may temporarily stop the habit, but her basic need for psychological study and treatment will only be delayed.

Tunnel razed; was man's home

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — It was just a dark tunnel, littered with junk and noisy with the scurry of rats. But John Vasco called it home for 17 years.

Then a wrecking crew moved in Wednesday and destroyed it.

The tunnel had been formed by one wall of a viaduct, its overhang and a wall of the Tennessee Casket Co. building.

"We tore down almost half of the old building before we knew he was in there," said Murlon Love, a private contractor who was demolishing the casket firm's building. "He told us he was going to die there."

Inside the tunnel, about four feet wide and almost 100 feet long, were piles of broken dolls, bottles and old clothes. One wall was covered with rows of crosses, strange figures and random words scribbled in chalk. At the rear was a small shelf where Vasco slept.

He said his wife died back in the early 1950s and "the spirit told him the only place he'd be safe is in that tunnel," Love said.

Residents of the neighborhood said

he often walked the streets wearing a tattered straw hat and carrying a black satchel, which he filled with additions to his collection of junk.

Vasco's background is a mystery, and he wouldn't talk much to reporters.

"I was created in the midSouth and had to flee the flood," the old man told a reporter without elaboration.

Capt. C.E. Torian, a fire marshal who is trying to find a place for Vasco to live, said he had ordered Vasco out several times without success. On Wednesday afternoon, Torian found Vasco at a supermarket and brought him back to the tunnel so he could collect his things.

"See if you want any of these things," Torian said, pointing to the piles on the floor.

"All of these things mean something to me," the old man said. As he lifted an old boot, a rat ran out.

Torian took him back outside as Love's bulldozer was poised to rip down the wall.

"I'm not going to move," Vasco said. "I'm supposed to live there."

Then he said, "I'll stay without the wall. All I have to do is listen to the music." He swept his arm toward the neighborhood filled with the noise of traffic and bars.

As Love put the bulldozer into gear and yanked the tunnel wall into a pile of dust and rubble, Torian led the old man away.

Inchworms have legs only on the front and back segments of their bodies, which explains their looping fashion of moving.

VISITING LECTURER — Dr. Nicholas Georgiady lectures to class of 20 teachers and administrators on "how to make school more fun and meaningful."

School can be fun, educator emphasizes

Dr. Nicholas Georgiady's course on the curriculum of the middle school might very well be called, "How to make school more fun!"

The class of 20 administrators and teachers are learning from Dr. Georgiady the most dynamic ways to teach students in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades or "middle school" range.

Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of Washington C.H. schools, explained: "Students in these grades are at a very formative age. They make up their minds whether or not they like school and if their decision is negative, they start dropping out."

Nestor believes this can be prevented by better approaches to teaching methods and better methods themselves.

"School is supposed to be fun! School is supposed to be exciting!" Nestor observed.

The class meets on the top floor of Washington Junior High School building on North Street every Friday from 4-6 p.m. and Saturday mornings from 9 til noon.

Dr. Georgiady, a writer and lecturer, who received his doctor of philosophy degree in education from the University of Wisconsin and has served as deputy superintendent of schools for the state of Michigan, has invited interested parents and public to sit in on his class.

Steel shortages possible in 1974

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Part of the U.S. steel market may go begging next year with combined U.S. and foreign steel supplies unable to meet demand, Industry Week magazine reported this week.

Along with the grim picture is a realization that foreign steel shipments have come a vital part of the U.S. market, the magazine said.

"Today foreign steel is purchased by U.S. steel users not because of price advantage but out of necessity," the magazine said. "It appears that a situation domestic steelmakers have long struggled to avoid has arrived: foreign steel has become a part of the U.S. steel capacity equation."

Next year's domestic steel demand should remain at the 120 million ton annual level achieved this year, but the magazine said "steelmakers see no way that demand can be matched by availability from domestic or foreign sources."

Steel companies estimate this year's shipments will be a record 107 million to 110 million tons with foreign steel adding about 15.6 million tons.

But Industry Week said next year's domestic steel shipments are figured no higher than 104 million tons, with a drop in foreign shipments because of increased demands overseas.

"If these developments hold true, and if 1974 demand continues at a level above 120 million tons, analysts say that domestic and foreign steel combined may be from five million to 10 million tons short of demand," the magazine said.

The magazine said federal restrictions on scrap export for the rest of the year, aimed at increasing U.S. production and lowering steel costs, also could lessen foreign steel availability.

The composite price on No. 1 heavy melting is $62.50 per gross ton, the highest since 1957, compared with the preceding week's $59.33, the magazine said.

Raw steel production was estimated at 2,872,000 tons for the week that ended Saturday.
